THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

ABUSE OF X-RAY

The X-ray is one of our finest, most accurate, diagnostic instruments. Not only does it require a machine that is technically perfect—it must have an operator who knows anatomy and pathology, and who knows a good picture from a bad one, and what each light and shadow of the negative signifies.

Any organization, quack or otherwise, can now buy X-ray instruments. Manufacturers do not, as a rule, inquire into the ethical character of cash customers. Most all charlatans advertise the X-ray as part of their equipment,—“operated by an expert who is connected with our staff of specialists.”

In this way, thousands of victims are fleeced annually, out of various sums from $5 up, for X-ray pictures that are absolutely valueless, because taken by men who are not capable diagnosticians. Most of these fellows insist on keeping the X-ray pictures that are made in their dens; they do not want any critics to inspect their work, and the liability of damage suits makes them doubly cautious.

If you, dear reader, should be so situated that you need X-ray pictures for diagnosing your case, go to a real physician, who will not victimize you. You will be safer to stay away from the advertising quack who collects in advance, and, refuses to give you the developed film that you pay for.
