 pistol, but there were no shots ared. About that time anotheryoung man, his face masked with houng manchief, entered the store, a revolver in his hand. The robbers tied the merchant with a rope, blind-folded asd gagged him. After rfling his cash drawer and taking fled. Some time later Mr. Ray succeeded in freeing his hands, took a knite from his pocket and cut the rope which bound him.
Shortly atter arriving at the scene of the robbery Sheriff Slagle ordered bloodhounds from Clayton, Ga. The dogs first picked up a trail leading to Mr. Ray's home a few hundred yards from his store. Taken back to the store, the hounds took another scent and trailed it to the home of Furman Hall, fathr of Joe Hall.

Sheriff Plays Hunch
Mr. Hall informed the sheriff, John Dills and Mr. Singleton, owner of the hounds, that he knew nothing of the crime. The officers had obtained some evidence leading them to suspect Joe Hall. The elder Hall, however, informed them hat Joe, who had been home from Indiana on a two-weeks vacation, and Farley, who had come with him from Austin, Ind., had left on Monday for Sylva on their way back to Indiana. Others in the community also told of seeing the young men depart, but Sherifi Sla gle had proved.
With Deputy Dills and Jim Wiles, a resident of the Burningtown section who could identify young Hall and his friend, Farley, the sheriff went to Dillsboro. There the ofioers kept a lookout on highway
No. 10 all night. Early in the morning they went to Sylva and met a bus arriving from Bryson City: Hall and Farley were among its passengers. On examining them the officers found in their possession, the pocket knives, the watches smail change. They also found a revolvèr and an automatic pistol in their possession. The two offered no explanation as to their whereabouts since their reported deparlure from Halr's home Monday. Prisoners Identified
When the prisoners were taken to Mr. Ray's store this morning the merchant immediately identified Farley as the man who lassoed him with the overalls.
"You are the one I tussled with," he promptly remarked.
And when he had a good look at Hall he said: Hall he said:
"Yep, you're the other one. 1
can tell by your coat"
Despite his years, Mr. Ray survived the shock of the attack and robbery remarkably well. He suffered a few scratches and bruises was not seriously injured
