

WORK RELIEF COMING SOON

who may find themselves without support in the future, and let it go at that.

The senate committee investigation of the working of NRA is the genuine thing, and not merely a perfunctory compliance with the president's desire to have that measure extended for two years more. The attitude of senators is decidedly hostile. The betting here is that the law will be so amended as to exclude all but inter-state business from its provisions, continuing NRA for one year with maximum hours, minimum wages and collective bargaining provisions as they are now, for such remaining industries as it applies to, but with definite prohibition of price fixing or production control.

Similarly, there seems to be little chance that the drastic demolition of holding companies, asked by the president, will be authorized by congress. Some regulatory and restrictive measure is expected, but nothing to cause honest business any alarm. Likewise in the case of the administration plan to revise the federal reserve law and concentrate control of all banks and banking in the treasury, the outlook is not good for any such sweeping program.

Bonus Bill On Ride

Soldiers' bonus legislation may be looked for this spring. There seems little chance that the senate will pass the bonus bill without the greenback clause, the house will agree to the amendment, the bill will go to the president, he will veto it, the house will override the veto, the senate will sustain it, and the net result will be a new compromise measure which will "do something" for the veterans but not what they demand. That bit of long-range prophecy emanates from one of the shrewdest and most usually right political observers in Washington.

From many such, mostly friendly to the administration, one begins to hear more and more frequently the view expressed that a third party is inevitable in 1936. Radicals and extreme liberals are deserting the president in droves. The main political effort of the practical politicians in congress from now on will be to win conservatives to the Democratic banner.

Program of Beautification Launched by Women's Clubs

The people of Franklin have been asked by Mrs. R. N. Barber, of Waynesville, president of District No. 1 of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, to take part in a campaign of promoting sanitation, conservation and beautification in Western North Carolina. The campaign was launched by the club women last fall and with the coming of spring Mrs. Barber has gotten behind the movement with a determination to get results.

"It is hoped," Mrs. Barber said, "that our people may be led to see the things that are objectionable to the eye and remove them; that they may be taught the value of sanitation and practice it; that they may realize the need of conservation and protect our wild life and natural beauties and resources; that they may be able to see the beautiful and to enjoy it."

"We realize," she continued, "that no country in the world possesses more natural beauty than Western North Carolina. But unless the club women and thinking citizens are on their guard, soon all of our wild life will have been destroyed, our most beautiful evergreens and flowering shrubs will have been slaughtered, and unsightly tourist camps will spring up on our highways."

We are trying to put our message across through various organizations, through the press and by offering prizes in each county for the best kept school grounds, and a prize for the cleanest town in the district. This last prize will be presented in October at the district meeting to the club president of the winning town, who in turn will present it to the mayor of her town.

"California and some of the New England states have for some time been working on such projects and we feel that when our Great Smoky Mountains National Park is open to the people of the world that we want nothing to detract from its natural beauty, and we want to do our part to make and keep this section beautiful."

"We cannot afford for a beautiful mountain view to be marred by a home where dirty pillows are stuffed in the windows and where dirty bedding hangs on a front porch clothes line, while the porch and the yard are cluttered with tin cans, rags, papers, broken crockery and junk. We must teach our people better citizenship, and in this land where water is plentiful and free there is no excuse for filth and ugliness."

"We want to teach our young people that when they throw trash in the street they are offending the public. We want our people to realize that the man who eats melons on the town streets or country highways and leaves the rind and waste to the flies and the dust is not practicing good citizenship, nor are the picnickers who leave their cans and boxes where they have used them. A merchant who sweeps trash from his place of business into the street is a greater offender than the school child who throws his paper bags, orange peels and examination papers on the school ground.

"When we learn to remove objectionable objects, to observe the laws of sanitation, to protect the worthwhile things we have around us, then the desire to plant and beautify will be sure to follow."

NEGRO FINALS START SUNDAY

Program for Closing of School Announced By Principal

Final exercises marking the close of the present term of the Franklin colored school will begin at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Rev. C. C. Herbert, Jr., pastor of the Franklin Methodist church.

R. B. Watts, principal of the school, said he was anxious to have everybody, white and colored, hear Mr. Herbert. Special seats, he said, would be reserved for white people.

On Monday night a program will be rendered by the children of the primary grades, and on Thursday night the advanced grades will present a program, after which M. D. Billings, county superintendent of schools, is scheduled to deliver an address.

"ADDED VALUES"

Lime — Magnesium — Dolomite — Mono-Calcium Phosphate — Di-Calcium Phosphate — Di-Magnesium Phosphate — Nitrogen — Supplemented Potash — Rare Elements — Basic — Sweet — Non-Acid Forming — Homogeneous — Pulverized — Continuous Availability — Chemical Combination — Even Distribution of Plant Food—these "added values" all in one fertilizer are made possible by the discovery and perfecting of BASIC PULVERIZED FERTILIZER by the Knoxville Fertilizer Company.

The process of making BASIC PULVERIZED FERTILIZER IS:

- 1st, the plant food materials are thoroughly mixed with ground Magnesium Limestone.
- 2nd, the mixture is reduced to a pulverized condition.
- 3rd, it is then aged in bulk.
- 4th, it is re-processed when bagged.

Thus is produced a PULVERIZED, chemical combination of plant foods with carbonates of lime and magnesium—homogeneous throughout. You will appreciate that a CHEMICAL COMBINATION of plant foods is far in ADVANCE of a MECHANICAL MIXTURE of fertilizer materials. The plant cannot utilize elements of plant food until they are reduced to a chemical combination.

Basic Pulverized Fertilizer is made by a definite process, and is a definite product. It is DIFFERENT, so different it is patented. NO OTHER COMPANY can make Basic Pulverized Fertilizer.

Of course, you want fertilizer with all these "added values." You get all these "added values" ONLY in Basic Pulverized Fertilizer. It is packed only in the green-bordered bag.

Leading Brands of BASIC PULVERIZED FERTILIZER

- Basic Ten-O-Four
- Knox Triple "A"
- Knox Vegetable Special
- Pulverized 5-7-5
- Basic Magnesia Phosphate

There is scientific evidence as well as abundant farm tests which prove that when we PULVERIZE and make BASIC our fertilizer the "added values" created, add at least ONE-THIRD to its worth.
