Mrs. Addie Mason Celebrates 77th Birthday

A party of relatives and friends met at the home of Mrs. Addie Mason, on Mason's Branch, Sunday, March 10, to celebrate the 77th birthday of Mrs. Mason.

Mrs. Mason fell on Dec. 17, 1934, and suffered an injury to her hip which has kept her confined to her bed most of the time since that time.

She has improved now to such an extent that she was able to walk into the dining room for dinner.

After a bountiful dinner, which was enjoyed by all present, the guests departed, wishing "Aunt" Addie many more happy birthdays.

WON'T CUT WAGES

Lawrence, Mass.—Bursting into a "workers" meeting, called by labor executives to discuss a voluntary wage reduction, Nathan Brindis, 45-year-old shoe executive, told them he couldn't consider their proposed sacrifice. He said, "The present is no time to cut wages, because of the recent sharp increase in the cost of living."

Hold Ham and Iron Fair

Each year in France great numbers of sturdy Norman peasants travel to Paris to attend the annual ham and iron fair. Although Normandy has no separate political existence, it was for centuries in ancient times a territory over which both France and England fought many bitter and bloody battles. Normandy, which lies opposite England on the English channel, was united with England from 1106 to 1204, when France regained possession. In 1790, when the French departments were created; Normandy became one with other political divisions of France.—Chicago Tribune.

Come Over on Our Side

"Mr. Chairman," said the speaker, "there are so many ribald interruptions I can scarcely hear myself speaking."

"Cheer up, guv'nor," said a voice. "You ain't missin' much!"—Liverpool Standard.

Worse Yet

Mrs. Gleeson (at concert): "She has quite a large repertoire, hasn't she?"

Gleeson: "Yes, and that dress makes it look all the worse."

Insurance Will Mature Your Building and Loan for You if Death Prevents You Doing So

Through a plan we have worked out with the Southeastern Life Insurance Company, of Greenville, S. C., you may, at a very nominal cost, insure the unpaid portion of your Building and Loan stock so that should you die before it matures, the full amount will be paid immediately to your estate.

To the BORROWING SHAREHOLDER . . . this insurance guarantees that the mortgage will be paid off immediately at death, thereby leaving your loved ones a home free from debt.

To the INVESTING SHAREHOLDER . . . this insurance matures your stock immediately, thereby guaranteeing funds for your family.

This unique plan is especially adapted to the needs of installment shareholders and the cost is so negligible that the shareholder can hardly afford to be without the protection it offers.
