by BRUCE BARTON

THE BETHANY SISTERS

THEY lived a little way out of Jerusalem in a sheltered suburban home, which Jesus loved to visit for refreshment and rest. One of them, Martha, was the practical housekeeper; the other, Mary, had the soul of a dreamer and the eyes of faith.

Martha was not lacking in faith. Hers was one of the most beautiful of all confessions. Jesus asked her if she believed in a doctrine, and she said, "Yes, Lord; that is to say, I believe in you." (John 11:27)

As for the theology of it, she was bewildered. Her brother was dead; she did not see any way out of that sorrow, but she believed in Jesus, and He accepted that faith at its full value. Millions of people who are perplexed by the creeds ought to read the story of Martha and be comforted.

But Mary's was the inventive love that knew how to do the unusual thing and do it beautifully.

Then Jesus six days before the Passover came to Bethany, where Lazarus was which had been dead, whom he raised from the dead.

There they made him a supper; and Martha served; but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

Then took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the odour of the ointment.

Then said one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him,

Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying hath she kept this.

For the poor always ye have with you; but me ye have not always.

Her love was prophetic. She had no inside knowledge of the plots to kill Jesus. She simply had apprehension of coming evil and she knew that the time to do the beautiful thing is now, "against my burial."

Much of our extravagance at funerals is horrible, not because of the waste, for love demands an expression beyond the calculation of cold economy, but because it mocks the penuriousness of the years that have gone before. Mary knew that the time to be extravagant is when love can express itself in an appeal to life and not in a costly and useless libation after death. So she made her gift of three hundred pence, and Jesus said:

Verily I say unto you, Whosoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her.

He never said that of the deed of any man.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

HARDENED ARTERIES

Normal arteries are soft, elastic and responsive to every impulse whether of food, drink, emotion or toxin. It is amazing, when we think of these wonderful channels, which vary in diameter from perhaps one inch down to a caliber smaller than a hair, working every second that we live, night and day, and on which our very lives depend.

It is no less than disaster when arteries become hardened from any cause, though few people who live long escape some degree of "arteriosclerosis." It is somewhat natural in the aged.

I saw a man of most exemplary habits all his life, achieve his octogenarian degree and pass it, whose arteries seemed as hard as sticks. He didn't die of hardened arteries.

He drank no alcoholics, used no tobacco, had absolutely no dissipations. He was unmarried. He never weighed over 130, and actually worked at quarrying building stone at 75 and even older.

Alcohol and tobacco are credited with causing hardened arteries. Your family doctor is the only man within your reach, who can tell you accurately of your condition and guide you safely. Here I want to say: Every adult man and woman should go to the doctor for a thorough looking over, at least twice a year. Have it done most particularly. You might as well not go at all if the visit gets only a handshake and a smiling assurance from the physician that you are "all right and fit as a fiddle."

If you wait until many arteries are hardened, it is very doubtful if you can expect relief approaching cure. The way to deal with a condition that is essentially chronic is to nip it in the bud if possible. I feel that this letter is worth while.

BEAR AND HUNTER FIGHT GRIM BATTLE TO DEATH

KELSO, Wash. — The isolated Barinof island, Alaska, was the stage for a grim tragedy discovered by Curtis Barber of Kelso, employee of a United States government surveying crew on the island.

Barber came upon the skeletons of a giant Kodiak bear and a hunter. Apparently the bear had been fatally wounded by the man. The skeletons evidently had lain beneath a dense forest for many years. No one could identify the hunter.

Salary of U. S. Justices

It is provided in the Constitution that the compensation of justices of the United States cannot be reduced during their term of office—which, since it is during good behavior, is the same as life. This does not apply to retired pay. A retired Supreme court justice ordinarily draws full pay, $20,000 annually.
