MACON PRAISED BY GEORGIANS

Visitors Deeply Impressed By This County's Advantages

The climate, agricultural conditions and recreational facilities of Macon county made a deep impression on a delegation of 17 farmers and business men from Wilkes county, Georgia, who went on the Franklin Rotary club's annual county farm tour Wednesday of last week. A letter of appreciation for hospitality and courtesies extended the delegation while here was received Saturday by F. S. Sloan, county farm agent.

"We wish to formally extend our thanks and to express our appreciation to the people of Macon county and, especially, of Franklin, for the many fine courtesies shown us during our recent visit to your county," the letter stated.

"We were very much impressed with the advantages which you possess over other sections, especially your climate, your grazing lands and with the practical forest program which you are undertaking. We, of course, grow corn, wheat oats and many other products which you do, but you have an asset in your forests and hay crops which other communities do not possess. We were especially impressed with the attention which you give to controlling wood fires.

"In addition to the agricultural advantages you should consider your recreational facilities, as evidenced by your forests, playgrounds, swimming pools and camps as being a material asset to your community. These things make an impression on people from other states.

"Your county agent was most thoughtful of our party, and we feel that you are fortunate to have his services.

"With cordial good wishes, we are,
(Signed) "T. W. Bell, D. S. Standard, N. R. Bennett, J. P. Bradley, J. W. Granade, G. H. Wolfe, J. M. Justice, Sam Hill, G. R. Garrard, B. C. Mansfield, W. H. Hallford, Will Dunaway, G. W. Brown, Wilkes Willingham, D. Carpenter, C. E. Sutton."

An accompanying note by Clement E. Sutton, who headed the party, requested that the letter be published in The Franklin Press as an open communication to the people of this county.

In Memory of Our Darling "Little Billy Mincy"

Oh, that awful accident. 'Twas Jesus' will that Billy go. Lord let us meet her up above, where all is peace and joy and love.

Oh, it was hard to give her up; we will miss her Oh how much. But she's an angel up in heaven. Little Billy we have given.

She was loved by all who knew her, and her life on earth is over, but we are going to meet her yonder on that bright and heavenly shore.

And in dreams we often see her. There among the angel band, and it seems she knows we miss her; for she's holding out her hands.

She's waiting yonder at the portals, watching at the golden gate; angels tell our darling Billy that she won't have long to wait.

She's my darling over yonder, just the same as she was here; and some day we'll join each other. I have not the slightest fear.

Oh, that awful, awful day when He took our dear away. She talked and sang and laughed with glee, until death called her home to Thee.

—Mother.
