

Club Women Working For Control of Cancer

Women's Field Army Is Being Organized In North Carolina

Since the middle of December, 1936, North Carolina has had a movement under way for the organization of the Women's Field Army for the control of cancer, operating under the American Society for the Control of Cancer, Rockefeller Center, New York City.

This movement is sponsored by the general federation of women's clubs. Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, past president of the general federation of women's clubs, is chief advisor. Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig is field representative of the American society, which is headed by Dr. C. C. Little, Ph.D., of New York City.

The American society for the control of cancer is not a new thing. It has been in operation since 1913. North Carolina is the 39th state to organize the women's field army. Miss Ethel Parker, "Elmwood," Gatesville, N. C., is commander of the North Carolina division, having been recommended by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to the North Carolina Medical Society and approved by them, and working directly under Dr. Henry B. Ivey, Goldsboro, N. C., chairman of the cancer committee of the State Medical Society.

The political divisions of the state are being used as a basis for organization. One commander; 11 vice-commanders, one for each congressional district of the state; 100 captains, one for each county of the state; each captain appointing as many lieutenants as she needs to head up the various groups in her county; and each lieutenant appointing as many helpers as she needs to carry on the work in her community. This will make an army of nearly 5,500 when the state is fully organized.

As everyone knows, cancer is curable if taken in its early stages. The women's field army is the permanent health agency, organized for the express purpose of fighting cancer with an educational campaign, making the people cancer conscious and tearing away the veil of secrecy which has so long shrouded the subject of cancer, bringing into the home an enemy which has attacked women particularly. That is the reason that women are being called upon to enlist in an active campaign to cut the mortality rate which has grown so alarmingly throughout the past few years.

It is the job of the women's field army to blast the silly ideas that have grown up about the origin of cancer.

When the army is fully organized and functioning, the plan is to have free lectures by competent physicians, free clinics and the distribution of literature.

Mrs. S. C. Clapp, of Swannanoa, N. C., is vice-commander of the 11th congressional district. Mrs. Clapp, with Miss Ethel Parker, are going into each county of the 11th district organizing the women's field army. On Monday of this week, Mrs. Clapp and Miss Parker were in Franklin contacting the women of the town.

Each woman is to be given an opportunity to become a member of the field army and each man a contributing member.

Gneiss

Mrs. M. A. Jones is able to piece quilts again after a severe illness.

Real estate has been changing hands and new buildings being erected at Gneiss. Near the mouth of Walnut Creek, Mr. Tom Dills bought a tract of land from Mr. Dewey Gregory and erected a small cottage on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Moses and three little girls have moved into their new home.

Mrs. Claude Evans bought from Buleon Holland the Lee Holland place, just across the river from the Lulwater place on highway No. 28. She and her family moved into their new home recently.

J. D. McCoy traded his place with Mr. Zeb Moss of Glenville. Mr. McCoy and family moved to Jackson county into the Moss home and Macon loses one of her leading citizens to Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss and family have moved into the McCoy home. They are operating the store formerly owned by McCoy. Mrs. Moss has been a successful teacher in Glenville for a number of years. We welcome our new neighbors.

Mr. Oscar Dills has erected a store house near the Pine Grove Baptist church. He is a busy merchant now.

John L. Henry, of Ellijay, is now with his daughter, Mrs. Clyde Dills. Mr. Henry is in very poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Leopard visited Mrs. White Leopard Sunday.

Rev. Frank Holland preached in the Walnut Creek school house Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. He has done some real good work here. Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. Avery Peek, of Haywood county, preached in the Walnut Creek school house. It has been several years since he has visited old friends and relatives. He was accompanied by his wife, Mary and mother, Mrs. Gracie Peek, of Waynesville.

Potts Sisters to Attend D. A. R. Conference

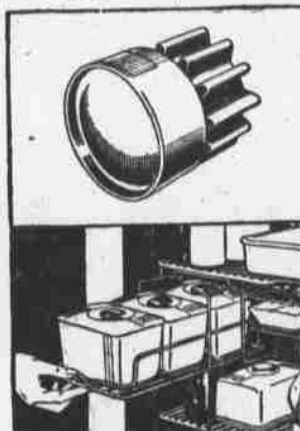

Misses Edna and Emma Potts, of Gneiss, now in school at Tamassee, D. A. R. Hi., were chosen to attend D. A. R. conference in Washington, D. C., to represent their school. The girls will sing at different meetings and Edna will make talks on Tamassee.
