

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have purchased the Dry Cleaning and Pressing business of Harry and Richard Holt, which has been operated under the name of Economy Cleaners and will take charge of the business on June 1st.

I have employed Newt Gibson, who has been known to the people of this section for many years as an expert cleaner and presser.

My telephone number will be 136, and I expect to establish a delivery service at an early date, serving Franklin and Highlands.

All of my friends are invited to call and see me and I assure you that your business will be appreciated.

EDITED BY MRS. T. C. HARBISON

CHARLES du BIGNON APPOINTED TOWN CLERK

HIGHLANDS, May 26.—Upon the resignation last week of W. P. Pierson as town clerk, Charles du Bignon, of Miami, Fla., was appointed as clerk by the board of commissioners. Following the municipal election here, Mr. Pierson had been elected by the board to succeed J. E. Potts as clerk, but resigned after serving for a few days. Mrs. H. G. Storey is working in the office in place of Mrs. Harbison.

Omitted from the graded school

Observed at the Golf Club

Grace Conley is back from school for the summer. Grace is considered the best golfer at Converse. Jess isn't the only good golfer in that family.

Winton Perry will have to go some to defeat Brother Vic in a few more years.

Emory Hunnicutt is only a year older than he was this time last year, but he thought he was 30 years older after one set of tennis Saturday.

Doug Nichols and John Wasilik played a dead heat at tennis. Both wanted a return match.

Miss C. M. Logan and Miss Tim Sloan, of Atlanta, only made one wild swing each in their round of golf Sunday Par excellent, girls, girls!

John Archer is fast rounding in to midsummer tennis form.

Tommy Angel shot a 78 Sunday. With a little luck on a few putts that hung on the lip, he would have been in the low 70's. Dr. Ed will have to go some to keep up with Tommy.

Being a proud father hasn't affected Father Dunbar's tennis game.

Miss Betty Yancey purchased a new fast tennis racket. Look out, girls, she means business.

Joe Dowdle was hitting his tee shots a country mile last week.

Miss Patton purchased a tennis racket for her uncle in Atlanta. She won't divulge her uncle's name and says it is a secret.

Miss Annie Laurie Bain looked like the original Annie Laurie to the Golf club folks in her cute new sports hat.

Mrs. Fred Sloan says Fred looks like a second story man in his new golf cap. Others say it is impossible—Fred could never look like that.

L. C. Curtis and R. L. Hendricks, of Waynesville, joined the crowd at the golf course. They are sweet honor roll in last week's Press was the name of Barbara Zoellner, of the third grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zoellner. Barbara left Monday for Greenville, S. C., where she will enter the hospital for treatment during the summer. A birthday party was given in her honor at her home a few days before her departure.

Charles duBignon, of Miami, Fla., has subleased Highlands Inn from J. Harvey Trice and will operate the hotel this season. Mr. and Mrs. Trice are at Tricemont Terrace, which is now open for business.

golfers, both of them. Come back again, boys!

Major Carmack says he has absolutely nothing to do with this column.

L. D. Cole, of Clayton, defeated J. J. Welsh in a red hot tennis match.

Alf Higdon hit his first golf ball Sunday. Believe it or not, he hit it on the first swing.

Grace, did you see your mother's new hat? It certainly was becoming.

John Wasiik had Pop Dunbar to set point, but Pop rallied and finally took the set. John is improving fast.

Mrs. Archer surprised herself, as well as John, Sunday. It looks like she has what it takes to play golf.

Mrs. Jess Conley played her first golf Sunday. If you do not believe that French heels are worn on golf courses, ask Mrs. Houk! She knows.

Mrs. Mark Dowdle played nine holes Sunday and is coming back for more.

The swimming pool was well patronized and some very good swimmers are being developed. The following water dogs made some large splashes: T. L. Jamison, Lillian Jones, John Palmer, John Slagle, Virginia Tessier, Virgil Watkins, Andrew Jones, Frank Leach, Francis Knock, Bessie Karn and Larry Royal, of Clewiston, Fla.

AS WE "Go Modern"
LET'S NOT FORGET
OLD-TIME
FUNDAMENTALS

The

MALLEABLE
OLD and the NEW—but both built the same inside—Full Malleable Ranges

The latest MONARCH "Balanced Design" Full enamel in Ivory-Tan or Nile-Green. 19-inch Oven. With or without Rear-Boiler, French Feet and Waterfront.

WHEN folks bought ranges, back in 1903, this MONARCH was the last word in snappy new style.

In those days there was no porcelain enamel—no artistic designs to divert attention from the malleable iron construction and riveted joints that women considered vitally important.

Long life, good baking and fuel economy were the features that housewives insisted on having. And "malleable" ranges gave these qualities as no other range could.

Are these considerations less important today? We believe not.

MONARCH has "Gone Modern" to the limit—but MONARCH has not forsaken the fundamentals of malleable iron construction that insure tight joints, efficient cooking and "Stay Satisfactory" service.

Underneath that beautiful enamel body you will find the same unbreakable malleable iron parts—the same riveted construction that there was 30 years ago.

And the good qualities your Mother demanded in her range are the same ones YOU should demand today.

Buy a beautiful enameled range, by all means—but be sure there are malleable iron parts and riveted joints underneath the enameled body.

Let us show you a MONARCH—and explain how it is made.
