Hold Regular Meeting Tuesday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Troop committee of the Franklin Boy Scout troop was held at the Kelly Tea Room Tuesday night, July 27, 1937.

The matter of the annual encampment trip was brought up for discussion, and it was decided the troop would be taken to Chattanooga, Tenn., for one week during the month of August, in order that the boys may visit Lookout mountain, Fort Oglethorpe, the Chickamauga power development of the TVA, and other points of interest in and around Chattanooga. The details for the trip are being worked out by the various members of the troop committee, and the encampment will be in charge of the scoutmaster, Jimmy Hauser.

A report was heard from Charles Hunnicutt, who was the representative from the Franklin troop to the National Jamboree at Washington, D. C.

The committee voted to continue its annual $100 membership with the Daniel Boone council of the Boy Scouts of America at Asheville.

Singers to Meet At Tellico August 15

The singers composing church classes, choir leaders, quartets and soloists, who are in the northern division of the Macon county singing convention, are requested to meet with the Tellico Baptist church on the third Sunday in August, at 1 p. m., for the purpose of reorganizing the third Sunday evening singing.

"Blackberry Bill" Picks 485 Quarts

William Carder, owner and manager of the Carder Piano company in Atlanta, has been coming to the Moody Farms for the past 23 years. This tourist home is situated in the beautiful Jotla Valley, where hundreds come yearly.

Mr. Carder is known to everyone here as "Blackberry Bill." He received his name by picking so many blackberries each summer. Already this year he has picked 485 quarts. These, he turns over to Mrs. Moody at the farm and she in turn makes them into pies, jellies and jams.

"Blackberry Bill," a Democrat from Vermont, was the first boarder at the Moody Farm. He comes yearly because he likes the climate, which is so much like that of his native home, Vermont.

Game Technicians Visit Nantahala Forest

E. A. Schilling, regional game technician of the U. S. forest service, and Fred Ruff, game technician of the U. S. forest service in North Carolina, spent some time on the Nantahala national forest during the past two weeks making a survey of the game possibilities and developing plans of action for the administration of the game management areas which are being developed cooperatively by the U. S. forest service and the North Carolina department of conservation and development. Tentative plans were drawn up for these areas for the joint approval of the forest supervisor and North Carolina commissioner of fish and game. Already boundaries are being posted and it is expected that these plans of action for the development of the fish and game resources of these areas will be well under way by September 1.

WHY KEEP ADVERTISING

When Business Is Slack, Why Advertise?

DID you ever notice that it takes time and persistence to accomplish anything worth while? You can't advertise today and expect to find your store crowded tomorrow unless you have through constant advertising educated the public to read your ads.

The majority of people are slow to act. Your own experience has repeatedly proved to you that it is necessary to keep telling your story to the buying public constantly. Advertising, to be successful, must above all else be persistent. Keep your trade in touch with your store. REMIND THEM TO REMEMBER YOU.
