

85th Birthday

Celebrated By Wm. Deal January 20

William Pierce Deal celebrated his 85th birthday anniversary Thursday, January 20, at his home on Franklin Route 4.

Mr. Deal, a farmer of the Holly Springs section of Macon county, lives on the homestead of his father on Cat Creek. He is the last surviving son of the late "Uncle Billy" Deal, who came to Macon county from Burke county at the age of 12 years, and who was among the earliest settlers.

Mr. Deal was eight years old when his three brothers enlisted in the Confederate army in 1861. None of them returned. He remembers many incidents about the war and especially the hardships and trials that were endured at home.

He also remembers three slaves his father owned at this time. Julia and Sam Deal, who were brother and sister, later moved to Charleston, S. C., while James Deal remained with the family for several years. He now lives at West's Mill, Macon county.

Mr. Deal has been a member of the Holly Springs Baptist church for 60 years and still attends Sunday school and church regularly. He was a constant reader until the past few years when his eyesight failed. Now one of his greatest pleasures is to have the news read to him and to listen to the current events and happenings over the radio.

Mr. Deal is in good health and rarely ever has to take medicine in any form. He claims this is due to his regular habits of eating, sleeping, and resting.

In 1883, Mr. Deal was married to Miss Lydia Berry, of this county. They had nine children, seven of whom are living. They are, Mrs. R. L. Fulbright, of Lake Junaluska; Mrs. W. W. Landrum, Mrs. J. Wayne Higdon, Miss Callie and Miss Angie Deal, and Alex and William Deal, all of Franklin.

Among those enjoying the birthday dinner with Mr. Deal were: Mrs. John Bryson, a sister; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Angel, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Berry, Miss Ethel Berry, Furman Berry, Harve Cabe, John Ferguson, Elias Ammons, Walter Elliott, Elbert Bryson, John Talley, with all Mr. Deal's children and their families.

"Your Job Insurance" At Macon Theatre

Franklin will have its premiere of "Your Job Insurance," the official North Carolina motion picture on unemployment compensation, at the Macon Theatre for six days, starting Monday, January 31, it has been announced.

This special short subject, which was filmed in North Carolina recently, tells in rapid, dramatic style the story of how unemployment compensation benefits will be paid to those workers who qualify in North Carolina, according to Charles G. Powell, chairman of the state unemployment compensation division.

"Your Job Insurance" was produced for North Carolina by the federal social security board at the Pathe Studios in New York City. The dramatic narration is done by Andre Baruch, nationally known motion picture and radio commentator.

The film tells the story of Steve, a North Carolina worker who becomes unemployed. After receiving his lay-off slip he goes to the nearest state employment service office, where he registers for another job and for unemployment compensation benefits.

The employment office helps Steve to look for work, but since no job is found by the end of the

Why spend your time baking, when spending a dime guessing the peas in the jar may win you a delicious home-made cake, and at the same time help the F. S. Johnston Bible class of the Franklin Methodist church raise their quota for the children's orphanage, at Winston-Salem.

The cake will be on display at Angel's Drug store Saturday morning from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. and at Perry's Drug store from 1 p. m. until 5 p. m. when the beans will be counted and the person who holds the number nearest to the number of beans in the jar gets the cake.
