"Deestrick Skule" To Be Given March 4

The "Deestrick Skule," a screaming comedy, will be given on Friday, March 4, at the courthouse, at 8 p. m. The full cast of characters will be published next week. A group of young and old of Franklin will take the leading parts. An old-fashioned spelling bee will be a feature of the performance, in which any and all spellers in the audience will be invited to participate. Appropriate prizes will whet the interest of spellers and audience. This preliminary notice is given to enable all to get out their old blue-back speller and brush up. Watch The Press for future announcements and remember the date.

FARM AID BILL NOW IN EFFECT

President Signs Measure Designed To Assist Agriculture

President Roosevelt Wednesday signed the $440,000,000 crop control bill, opening the way to an agricultural program designed to stabilize farm income and at the same time protect the consuming public from price-grouping on foodstuffs.

Simultaneously the chief executive issued a statement detailing the new deal's fight on behalf of the farmer and declaring "the act represents the winning of one more battle for an underlying farm policy that will endure."

He added that the bill is "not perfection but it is the constructive product of the able and sincere work of many men" and he called on the nation to "resolve to make it an effective instrument to serve the welfare of agriculture and all our people."

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said he would put the vast plan into immediate operation.

The bill provides:
 1. Continuance of the AAA soil conservation program and establishment of its objectives as a part of permanent farm policy represent a national investment in soil fertility and insurance for the nation of future abundance of food and fiber.

Designed For Ample Consumption
 2. National acreage allotments established at levels designed to give production ample for domestic consumption, exports and reserve supplies, and payments are made to encourage farmers to produce up to these national allotments.

3. Loan provisions in the law encourage systematic storage of surpluses of big crop years for use in years of shortage. The government is authorized to advance money as loans to enable farmers to hold surpluses until needed.

4. Marketing quotas backed by penalty taxes on sales in excess of quotas can be used, subject to approval of a two-thirds vote of the producers voting, to secure general participation of farmers in a program designed to hold surplus supplies off the market until they are needed.

5. Release of corn supplies from storage under marketing quotas is provided to meet any shortage that develops either on the farm, in the country or in the case of national need.

6. Crop insurance for wheat, starting with the 1939 crop, will give the wheat producers and the bread supplies of the nation better protection against drought. Gradual accumulations of wheat paid in by farmers as insurance premiums will contribute a major part of the ever-normal granary supplies of wheat.

Stabilize Livestock Industry

Wallace said that the plan will build up carry-over supplies of feed which should stabilize the livestock industry and protect both consumers and producers against such price extremes as those caused in 1934 and 1936 by shortages arising from drought.

Administrator H. R. Tolley, of the agricultural adjustment administration, who will be in charge of the program, said that he will continue it along the same lines as the present soil conservation plan with further "efforts to decentralize administration by giving the farmers as much authority" as possible.

Tolley said corn allotments would be announced as "soon as possible" while wheat allotments will be announced July 15. Rice is exempted from marketing quotas next year while acreage allotments are not set until Dec. 31 of each year.

The quota for flue-cured tobacco will probably be 700,000,000 to 710,000,000 pounds and must be announced within the next few days, Tolley said.

Old-Age Claims Average $20.75 In This State

Claims for lump-sum payments under the old-age insurance plans of the social security act were certified during January at the rate of 23 per working day in North Carolina, Graham Martin, manager of the Asheville field office of the social security board, announced today. During January, a total of $10,871.47 was certified for payment to 524 claimants—workers who reached the age of 65 and the estates of workers who died. The average amount of each payment was $20.75, a very appreciable increase over the average claim paid six months ago.

Throughout the country during January a total of $745,691 was certified for payment to 23,538 claimants. The average amount of each claim was $31.68 or almost double the average of $17 for all claims paid up to the end of last August.
