R. L. WHITMIRE FOR CONGRESS

Hendersonville Man In Race Against Zeb
Weaver

R. L. Whitmire, Hendersonville attorney and former state senator from the 17th district, Saturday filed with the state board of elections at Raleigh as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States congressman from the 11th district.

He will oppose Congressman Zebulon Weaver, of Asheville, veteran member of the lower house, in the June 4 Democratic primary.

Served In A. E. F.

Whitmire was born in Transylvania county but has been a resident of Henderson for the past 25 years. He served with the American Expeditionary forces during the World War and later attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He began the practice of law at Hendersonville in 1921.

He is past commander of the Hendersonville post of the American Legion and was a delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1924. He served in the state senate in 1927.

In a lengthy statement issued with his announcement, Whitmire emphasized his belief that "private business should be given every opportunity to absorb unemployment but the government must allow no man to go hungry who is disposed to work."

"Party leadership," he said, "is essential, but there is no necessity for a congressman who fails to use his own judgment."

The text of his announcement follows:

Stresses Party Loyalty

"(1) As an active Democrat I believe that party loyalty is a cardinal virtue but ranks in importance below devotion to country.

"(2) Party leadership is essential, but there is no necessity for a congressman who fails to use his own judgment.

"(3) Other nations may choose the forms of their own governments but America must remain secure for democracy.

"(4) The constitution must be the guiding light of all legislative action, but to interpret it in the light of conditions existing 100 years ago would be ridiculous.

"(5) Capital and industry are the spring heads of prosperity and entitled to the fullest protection of the laws, but they must not dictate to the government.

"(6) The right of labor to organize and bargain collectively for a fair wage level and better living conditions must be recognized, but property rights must be respected and prices maintained within the ability of the consumer to pay.

"(7) Crop curtailment and acreage reduction must be entirely voluntary. Every cultivator of the soil is entitled to say what, and how much he will plant and produce on his own land.

Uniform Taxes Advocated

"(8) Without the power of taxation, the government is helpless, but levies should be just and uniform with due regard for ability to pay and legitimate business should not be crippled and destroyed thereby.

"(9) A more abundant life can best be promoted by a close under-

County Homes Becoming Gradually Depopulated

RALEIGH, March 30.—The social security program in North Carolina, particularly old age assistance, has made it possible for the counties to finance and plan other types of care for a large number of potential county home inmates, so that such persons are saved from institutional care and can take their places in family homes, Dr. J. Wallace Nygard, director of the division of institutions and corrections, state board of charities and public welfare, said Saturday.

"The influence of the social security program on county homes," Dr. Nygard said, "is apparent in the smaller number making application for county home care since the program became effective in North Carolina last July. The February, 1938, census report reveals that 85 county homes have a total population of 2,929, or 210 less than in the same month of 1937.

"About 95 persons who were inmates of county homes have been released into private homes of their own choice through old age assistance. Approximately 50 deaths occur each month among the aged infirm in county homes. With the new admittances decreasing and the number discharged through old age assistance and by death, the county homes are becoming slowly but gradually depopulated.

"With the depopulation movement, county units are becoming more interested in consolidation into district hospital homes, thereby providing better care at less cost than if each county continued to maintain its own county home."

In the county home in Macon county there are only eight inmates at the present time, and these are in no condition to be taken into private homes and can be better cared for on the county farm.

OLD VIOLIN IN MACON COUNTY

Mr. Bateman's Instrument Dated 1721, Believed Stradivarius

Charles L. Bateman, of Franklin, route 3, residing in the Oak Dale section, has in his possession a violin, dated 1721, which he believes was made by Antonio Stradivarii.

When Mr. Bateman was 11 years old he purchased the violin from his brother, T. A. Bateman, of Nantahala. Since he had no money to pay for it, he hoed corn at 25 cents a day for 10 days until he had paid the price of the violin. The violin had been bought from El Wright, of Graham county, who learned to play it quite well.

Much time in Mr. Bateman's boyhood days was spent in playing his violin, especially for the old-time square dances which were so numerous in those days. The instrument is in fairly good condition and has a very sweet tone, but is seldom used now.

She has always been a lover of music and often rolls to the piano in her wheelchair and plays her old favorites, which she so often played in her younger days. Among the tunes she never fails to play is "Bonaparte's Retreat."

Mrs. Moore is the mother of Mrs. A. B. Skaggs and Mrs. Frank H. Nolen and spends much of her time in Macon county.
