Winners Announced In Legion Essay Contest

In the American Legion essay contest on the subject, "The Advantages of American Citizenship," which closed on April 5, the following were winners in Macon county:

First prize, Harold Sloan, Franklin.

Second prize, Mildred Zachary, Highlands.

Third prize, Mildred Bryson, Franklin.

The essays were typewritten and not signed, according to the rules of the statewide contest.

The winning essay in Macon county has been sent to Raleigh and will be judged with essays from other counties in the state contest.

Mrs. Helen Macon, teacher of history in the Franklin high school, had charge of the contest here, and Mrs. Kate M. Rhinehart and F. C. Hentz were in charge in Highlands. All but one of the pupils in the Highlands high school submitted essays, and more than a hundred were submitted by pupils of the Franklin school.

The Macon county post of the American Legion will give prizes of $3, $2 and $1 for the winners. The state prizes are $25, $15 and $10 respectively for the three best essays submitted in the state contest. A board of judges to be selected by State Superintendent of Education Clyde A. Erwin and Department Commander Hector Blackwell will announce the state prize winners prior to April 30.
