

Highlands Highlights

MRS. E. A. BURT, JR., POSTOFFICE BOX 20

With this issue the Highlands department of The Press is taken over by Mrs. E. A. Burt, Jr., who succeeds Mrs. Frank Bloxham.

Mrs. Bloxham is now living in Franklin, and found it impossible to go on with the Highlands work, which she has been doing so satisfactorily to the paper and the public.

Mrs. Burt, who before her marriage last October was Miss Stella Marett, has lived in Highlands for the past 20 years, and is thoroughly familiar with the territory. She is well equipped for the position, and will represent The Press as agent for advertising and job printing as well as correspondent.

If you have news or business of any kind for the paper, communicate with Mrs. Burt, Editor.

Miss Jane Clayton Forgrave Is Wedded To Foster Brown Thorpe, of New York

The wedding of Jane Clayton Forgrave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Forgrave, of Cashiers and Cocoa, Fla., to Foster Brown Thorpe, of New York City, took place at the church of the Good Shepherd, Cashiers, on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Bloxham, rector of the church, officiated.

The church was decorated with mountain laurel against a background of hemlock. Laurel was also used in clusters tied with white tulle ribbon. Seven-branched candelabra with cathedral tapers throughout the church provided the only light for the ceremony. During the nuptial music which was played by Mrs. George Townsend prior to the service, the candles were lighted by Connor Fiemster and Jack Young, of New Kensington, Pa. The program of music included Schubert's "Serenade" and "Venetian Love Song." The traditional bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and the wedding march by Mendelssohn were used as the processional and recessional, and during the ceremony Mrs. Townsend played "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice."

The bride entered on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his father, Mr. J. E. S. Thorpe, who served as best man.

The bride was enchanting in her lovely gown of hand-wrought Chantilly lace fashioned in princess style. The neck of the tight-fitting bodice was cut heart-shaped, and her tulle veil fell the full length of her court train from the coronet of tulle held in place by a halo of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white gardenias.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Marshall Pilkney Orr, of Anderson, S. C. She wore a gown of blue net fashioned over a foundation of matching taffeta. The full circular skirt was shirred to a fitted bodice and the neckline was heart-shaped. The sleeves were short and puffed. Her headdress was of pleated blue net that fell as a face veil, held together over her forehead with a blue rose. She wore blue satin sandals and carried a cascade bouquet of garden flowers in pastel colors.

The four bridesmaids wore gowns in similar style, of pink net over matching taffeta. Their headdresses were of pink net caught with pink roses. They wore pink satin sandals and carried bouquets of garden flowers in cascade formation. The bridesmaids were Miss Patsy McMullan, Miss Mildred McMullan, of Chapel Hill and Washington, N. C.; Miss Doris Rick, of Cocoa, Fla., and Miss Tracy Scobie, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The groomsmen were Lyndon McKee, Sylva; Albert Neal, Marion; Harold Staten, Bethel; George Bernard, Connor Fiemster, and Jack Young, of New Kensington, Pa., and William McKee, of New York.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, "Hiddenbrook." The house was most attractively decorated with white flowers and greenery. Large vases of mammoth gladioli were placed in all the rooms. Regal lilies and bridal wreath were combined artistically with the gladioli.

In the dining room the table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth. The centerpiece was a large bowl of white magnolia buds on a reflector. On either side of the center stood candelabra with cathedral tapers. At one end of the table was the bride's cake, which was adorned with a miniature bride and groom beneath a wedding bell.

Mrs. Thorpe attended the University of North Carolina and is an accomplished musician. She is well known and popular in Cashiers and Highlands.

Mr. Thorpe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. S. Thorpe, of Franklin and Cashiers. He was educated at Choate school and at the University of North Carolina. He spent some time in Vienna, Austria. He is now employed in the New York office of the Aluminum Company of America.

The couple left by car for Virginia Beach where they will spend some time before going on to New York, where they will be at home after June 27th.

Among the guests from this section who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Cobb, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Bloxham, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Church, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Penn, Mr. and Mrs. John Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Tompkins, Mrs. Dorcas Allen, Miss Calla Clement, Claude Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Houk, and others.

Steve Porter Honored In Hendersonville

Macon county friends, of Steve Porter will be interested in the following story which we quote from the Hendersonville Times-News:

"The Milo Strong Memorial membership in the Hendersonville Golf and Country club was awarded today to J. S. 'Steve' Porter by the Hendersonville Rotary club.

"The membership, which is awarded each year by the directors of the club goes to the Rotarian who was outstanding in Rotary during the year and is a memorial to the late Milo W. Strong, first president of the Golf and Country club and an outstanding member of the Rotary club.

"Dr. Moose, former president of the Albemarle, N. C., Rotary club and now a resident of Hendersonville, was the speaker at the meeting. He told of his idea of Rotary and of his experiences as a Rotarian."

Franklin Rotarians remember Steve as a very enthusiastic member of the organization here where he served a term as president of the local club.
