DEATH CLAIMS MRS. GRANT, 98

Oldest Woman In County Passes At Home Of Grandson

Mrs. Betsy Jane Grant, 98 years of age, the oldest woman in Macon county, died at the home of her grandson, Horace Hurst, on Bonny Crest, Saturday morning at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Grant was a member of the Shoals Creek Baptist church and was a close student of the Bible.

Mrs. Grant was known to hundreds of relatives and friends as "Aunt Betsy Jane". She was born on Shoals Creek in Haywood, now Jackson county, June 9, 1840, a daughter of John S. and Martha Carroll Gibson and was the eldest in a family of 15 children. She was the oldest living descendant of the late Rev. Samuel Gibson, a pioneer Baptist minister in Macon county. She was left motherless when the youngest child was two years old and thereafter had much of the burden of the family cast upon her.

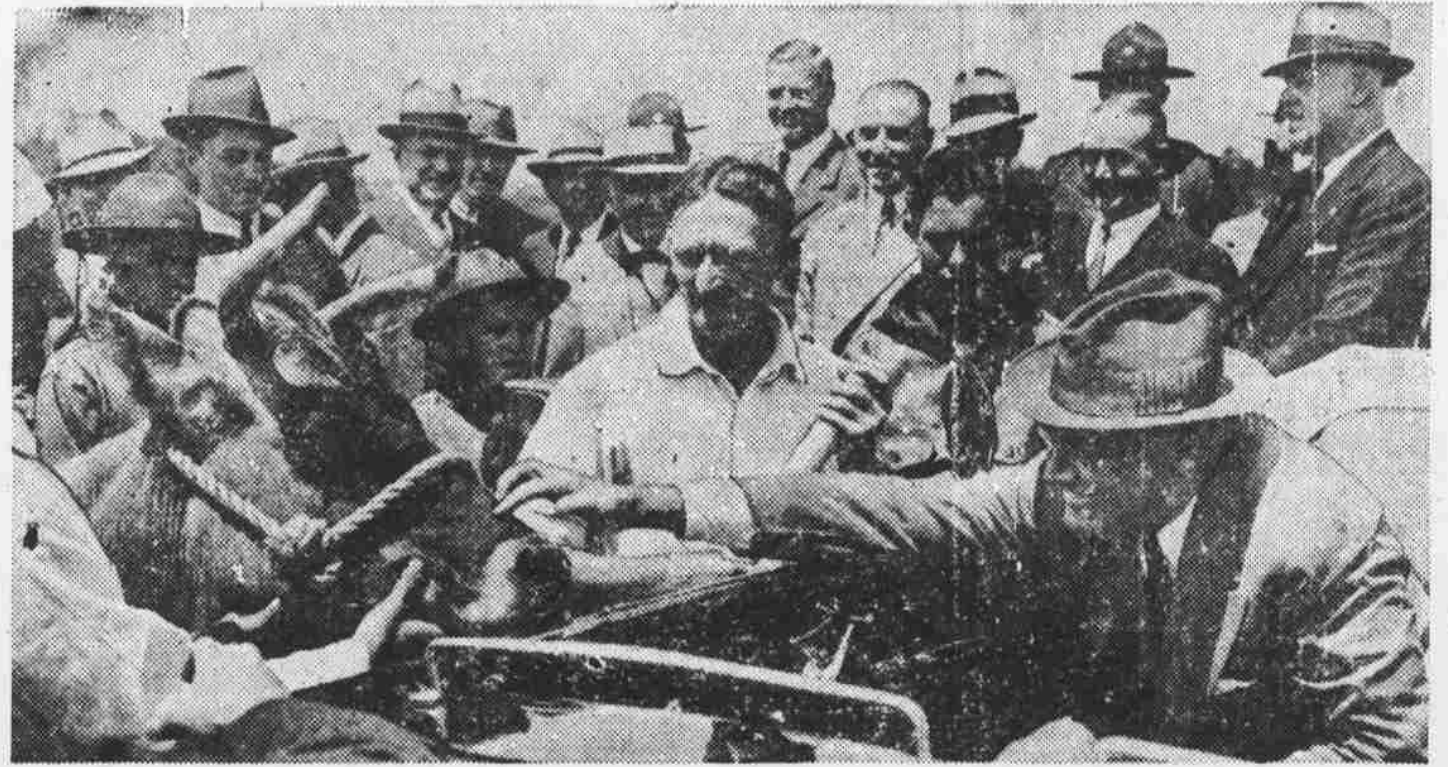

At the age of 18, she was married to the late William Grant and to that union six children were born. After the birth of their second child in 1862, Mr. Grant went to the war where he received a wound in his left leg. He was forced to walk on crutches for the remainder of his life. Shortly after his return from the war, he moved his family to Sweetwater, Tenn., where he was employed as a bookkeeper in a cotton mill.

Mrs. Grant was left a widow at the age of 35 with six small children, no income and only a small farm to live upon. She did not scorn the heaviest types of manual labor in looking after her brood. She raised sheep, sheared them, carded, spun the thread and then wove cloth for their clothing. Black and white walnut dyes were used as well as mixtures from broom-seed and alder.

"Aunt Betsy" received most of her education at home where she was taught by her father, a teacher. Her longest school term was three months.

Funeral services were held at the Snow Hill Methodist church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. H. S. Williams, pastor, assisted by the Rev. A. A. Angel, were in charge of the services. Interment

Prize Cow Given Roosevelt Blessing

President Roosevelt got close to nature when he visited the little mountain community of Arthurdale, W. Va., site of a federal homestead project. The prize-winning New Deal cow shown in the picture seems unimpressed by the presidential friendliness.

C., and Mrs. Nancy Cardon, of Leatherman, Macon county; 24 grandchildren, 78 great-grandchildren and 37 great-great-grandchildren.

Two Business Concerns To Move This Week

Esther's Beauty Shoppe and Mrs. Green's dressmaking establishment will be moved the latter part of this week to new quarters in the McCoy building, formerly occupied by the Bryant Furniture company.

The store room has been completely remodeled, and will accommodate the beauty shop, Mrs. Green and Frances' Shop. Frances' Shop will be moved next week, as that side of the building is not quite ready for occupancy.

Esther's Beauty Shoppe has been occupying an upstairs room in the Leach building and Mrs. Green has been in the old Munday building across from Roy Cunningham's store.

John Thomas will occupy the ground floor of the Munday building with a line of fruits and produce as soon as Mrs. Green moves to her new place.
