

BEANS BOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT

Macon Farmers Dispose Of 7,074 Bushels In Ten Days

For the past several years the acreage planted to green beans for the market and for canning has steadily increased. Green beans have afforded the farmers a quick cash crop at an average price that allowed the farmer a profit above actual expenses.

This year rain prolonged the growing season in the extreme Southern states thus allowing the beans from these states to remain on the markets longer than previous years. The favorable growing season throughout the bean producing sections caused the yield of beans to be exceptionally good. Due to the fact that there has been no market for these beans farmers asked the assistance of the county agent's office to help dispose of their crop.

Authorities at Raleigh were contacted to see if it was possible for the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to purchase beans in this area. The Extension Service at Raleigh got in touch with F. S. C. G. at Washington, who in turn instructed Mr. Grant Border, whose office was then in Macon, Ga., to come into this area to look the situation over.

At a meeting of the bean growers of this county Mr. Border explained just what could be done, stating the grades of beans that could be handled and the price that could be paid. He explained that the object of his organization was to take up the surplus with the hopes that a better price could be secured for the remaining crop. The first refrigerated car was placed in Franklin at noon Saturday, July 9. Cars were loaded through July 19. Nine cars of beans and one car of cabbage were loaded. A total of 7,074 bushels of beans and 38,994 pounds of cabbage were purchased and shipped to other points for distribution.

The service rendered by the F. S. C. C. was greatly appreciated by the farmers of the county and it is hoped that the late crop of beans will bring a better price, due to the majority of the surplus being removed from the market.

Miss Nancy Downing and Miss Lottie Henckel, of Atlanta, were week-end guests of Mrs. F. L. Siler and Mrs. Walter Downing.

To The Patrons Of Chapel School

Chapel school will open Monday morning, August 1. It is important that every pupil between the ages of six and 21 be present and attend every day during the term. It is imperative that every child between the ages of seven and 14 be present every day of the term. The compulsory law will be more rigidly enforced during this term than ever before. We hope that all parents will be mindful of the fact that teachers and all are under obligation to see that the compulsory law is obeyed. It is the law of our great state, and all are required to obey it.

May we have the hearty cooperation of all in making this the best term all round in the history of the school? The faculty promises the best service in its power to give. Meet with us and help us to devise plans for going forward in a big way. Visit the school as often as possible and see how the work is being carried on daily. Help us to develop the best that is in your children. A welcome awaits you whether you come with commendation, or with complaint. Come.
