CHARLES ANDERSON ERECTING BRICK BUILDING

A 24 x 65 foot two story brick building is being erected by Charles J. Anderson, which will be used as a modern, up-to-date 5 and 10 cent store. Mr. Anderson says prices will be in line with other stores of this kind. A good sized shipment of Christmas merchandise, toys, etc., is ordered, and the store will be open for the holiday trade. The second story of the building will be used for office rooms.

This building joins the Highlands Drug store, which is owned and operated by Mr. Anderson, and generously patronized by the public. Mr. Anderson has visited various cities studying this type of merchandise, and the new store promises to be all that an up-to-date establishment of its kind should be. Our citizens have long felt the need of such an enterprise and are delighted that Mr. Anderson is promoting it, and that they will now be able to do much more of their shopping at home.

COL. AND MRS. DEAR BUY MARETT REAL ESTATE AGENCY

Colonel and Mrs. William R. Dear, of Fort Benning, Ga., have bought the S. T. Marett Real Estate Agency and the G. W. Marett property at Shortoff, formerly owned by Sam Wilson. The Dears arrived in Highlands last Saturday, bringing with them Colonel and Mrs. Guy Qualls, also of Fort Benning. Colonel and Mrs. Dear are planning extensive improvements on their new place.

Colonel Dear was transferred from Fort Belvoir, Va., to Fort Benning, Ga., last August, and the following is an excerpt taken from a write-up appearing in The Columbus Enquirer, of August 31, 1938:

"Colonel Dear reported today for duty as Infantry school surgeon and commanding officer of the Fort Benning hospital. He has a distinguished record in the medical corps of the United States army, and will serve on the staff of Brigadier General Asa L. Singleton, commandant.

"Colonel Dear comes from Fort Belvoir, Va., where, since 1935, he has been at the Engineer school on the same duty as that he will have at Fort Benning.

"In the period immediately following the World War, Colonel Dear served with the American relief administration in Russia. He was in charge of all relief work in the Kazun district, which embraced ten million peasants. He directed all medical and sanitary relief for this vast population, issuing medicines and hospital supplies, and organizing and administering campaigns of inoculation against smallpox, cholera, and typhoid.

"During the war he was in charge of base hospitals at Fort Lee, Va., and Spartanburg, S. C.

"Prior to his assignment to Fort Belvoir, he served for four years as executive officer at Letterman, the army's general hospital in San Francisco, and as chief of the Medical service at the army dispensary in Washington, D. C.

"Colonel Dear graduated in 1906 from the medical school at the University of Pennsylvania, where he was an outstanding athlete, setting records of that day as a dash man on the track team. In 1909 he was an honor graduate of the Army Medical school, and in 1931 he received a doctor's degree in public health at the University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the American Medical association, and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, admitted in 1929."

Highlands extends a warm welcome to Colonel and Mrs. Dear, and family, and is glad to number them among its summer residents.

FUNMAKERS START REHEARSAL ON THREE PLAYS

This week the Funmakers start rehearsal on three one-act plays: "Egbert to the Rescue," "Jest Settin'," and "I'm Terribly Sorry," which they will present the early part of November. The casts will include about 20 of the club members, with others assisting with staging, make-up, and the management of properties.

The complete casts of the plays will be announced next week.

HIGHLANDS PLEASED AT RETURN OF REV. W. F. BEADLE

The people of Highlands are pleased that the Rev. W. F. Beadle has been returned to the pastorate of the Highlands Methodist church for another year, by the Western North Carolina Annual Methodist Episcopal conference, which convened in Charlotte on October 20.

TUDOR GILBERT HALL OBSERVES SIXTH BIRTHDAY

Tudor Gilbert Hall celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary with a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tudor N. Hall, on Thursday, October 20. The Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations, games and supper, the games mostly in the form of races, with a witches' broomstick race, a relay race in the yard, and a pumpkin roll, each child winning a prize.

The supper consisted of a salad course and a sweet course. A yellow birthday cake, with black cat trimmings and yellow candles, centered the supper table. The young host received a number of presents, among them being a much desired bicycle given by his parents.

Those enjoying the happy occasion with Tudor were: Peggy Potts, Angela, Ann, Mary Deas, and Jane Anderson, "Buzzie" Hentz, Margaret Sara, and Isabel Hall.

Mrs. E. R. Gilbert assisted her daughter, Mrs. Hall, in entertaining the young people.

FARM GIRL CHAMP

Hazel Drysdale, 19-year-old girl of Altaloma, Calif., was crowned the American farm girl champion at the Los Angeles county fair, winning the highest points in the milking and butter churning contests. She is pictured with the cow she milked her way to victory with.

SETS ARCTIC MARK

Louise A. Boyd, California woman and leader of the Boyd Arctic expedition, who reports that in this year's Arctic survey she went by ship up the East Greenland coast to a point farther north than any American had gone.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The Christian Endeavor met at the regular hour Sunday evening, with the president, Wendell Cleveland leading the devotional period. The program on "Kindness" was in charge of Miss Estelle Edwards, who made a most interesting talk, stressing the importance of doing one's utmost toward making other people happy.

SCHOOL NOTES

The fourth grade, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Mattie Wilkes, had charge of the chapel exercises last Friday morning.

Clarence Munger led the devotional, and the pupils taking part in, and helping with the two short plays, "Seeing Maw Off," and "Making a Cake," were: Doris Hedden, Leonard Johnson, Evelyn Phillips, Ligon Creswell, J. C. Webb, Sue Hicks, Marveta Houston, Robert Beal, Carl Chastain, and Clarence Miller. The reading, "Fourteen Ninety-Two," was given by Reba Calloway.

The winner of the multiplication contest in this grade last week was Evelyn Phillips. The contest is still going on and the pupils are striving to become multiplication perfect.

The sixth grade pupils have organized a "Better English Club," with a special program every Friday afternoon. There is a contest between the boys and girls, and the side making the greatest number of errors in English will entertain the winning side with a picnic in the Spring.

This grade is planning a Halloween party. The pupils have arranged the entertainment program and will furnish the refreshments.

The third grade work is centered around nature study; kinds of leaves, storing up food, signs of the month. They are also having lessons in good citizenship. The mid-morning lunch is observed in this classroom at 10:45, when the children have milk and fruits.

Their chapel program Friday morning, October 28, will be a play, "The Magic Jack 'O'Lantern," and the children will wear Halloween costumes.

Mrs. Thompson's assistants in the lunch room this year are: Mrs. Lou Webb, Mrs. Dorothy Hedden, and Mrs. Ethel Russell.

Co-operating In the Cause of PUBLIC WELFARE

Funeral Directors from all parts of the country will meet in New York City in October at a convention of the National Funeral Directors Association.

The improvements that have, in the past few decades, resulted from the co-operation of earnest members of our profession brought about the recognized supremacy of the American funeral—its high excellence being unequalled in any other part of the world.

Every refinement that has been developed by the mortuary arts and sciences is used by this mortuary in bringing appropriate beauty to funerals and comforting relief to bereaved families.

In advance of their need, people come to us for full information regarding funeral procedure and costs. They have found that it brought them peace of mind—a relief from avoidable anxiety that often attends the making of funeral arrangements.
