MR. AND MRS. DAVIS ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davis entertained at a dinner party on Wednesday, November 9, honoring Mrs. Fred E. Carter of Leominster, Mass. Other guests of the Davises were: Miss Bernice Durgin, Mrs. J. A. Hines, Miss Cynthia Moretz, and Mrs. H. G. Story. In the afternoon Mrs. Davis took her guests to the special education week exercises at the school, and to the tea in the lunchroom immediately following the exercises, where delicious hot rolls, butter, tea, coffee and cakes were served.

B. Y. P. U. HOLDS

REGULAR MEETING The B. Y. P. U. program opened with the singing of two hymns by both the intermediates and seniors. The Rev. J. G. Benfield led the two unions in prayer, after which the intermediates held their program in their room. Due to the illness of Mrs. M. A. Pierson the Bible quiz was not held. Sarah Walden gave the introduction to the lesson, "The Life of Dr. Robertson," and those taking part on the program were Harold McConnell, Edward Potts, Sarah Walden and Doris Potts. At the business session Edward Potts suggested that cards be sent to the absent members, to let them know they were missed, and were needed in the work. Elmer McDowell, Jr., was welcomed as a new union member.

SCHOOL NOTES

Through the efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association the hot water tank has been installed in the lunch room.

According to the P.-T. A. president, Mrs. F. H. Potts, the rummage sale recently sponsored by this association was such a success, they have been asked to hold another sale, and one is planned for Thanksgiving week. The exact date has not been decided upon,

The school was pleased to have so many mothers visit the class rooms during Education Week, and see the work being done.

The devotional for the Monday afternoon special Education Week program was led by the Rev. W. F. Beadle, and the high school topic was "Achieving the Golden Rule and Building Strong Minds and Bodies."

The Wednesday afternoon devotional period was led by the Kev. J. G. Benneld. The tirst halt of the program was given by the sixth and seventh grades. The topic was "Carrying Hard Tasks Through," and consisted of appropriate songs, poems, and talks. 'The last half was a play given by the fifth grade, which was aimost entirely original on the part of the students and teacher. The general theme was the use of leisure time and books as the best tools for becoming educated. The play was a dramatization of "Wayne's Dream." In this dream Wayne was convinced of the pleasure books give aside from their usefulness.

Armistice day was observed with a parade by the entire school at 11 o'clock,

The Armistice Day program was given by the first, second, third and fourth grades. The Rev. R. B. DuPree led the devotional, and the first and second grades told what the flag stood for. gave the salute, and sang the Armistice Day song. The third and fourth grades gave a short play of "What Hartwell Learned," with the moral that anything worth while is worth working for, the national colors being very much in evidence in this play.

From an article appearing recently in the Charlotte Observer it is noted that in a popularity contest at Queens-Chicora college, each class has been asked to nominate two candidates. Sarah Bridges Thompson is one of the two elected by the Sophmore class. These candidates will be voted on by the student body of Davidson college, and the winner announced at a party given for them by the Queens-Chicora students on No-
