

LOWER

In its annual outlook report for farm labor, equipment, and fertilizer, the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics points out that "the combined level of farm wage rates and prices of commodities used in agricultural production probably will average a little lower than in 1938."

NAGGING BACKACHE

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action, Don't Neglect It!

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, exposure, contagion, whatnot, keeps doctors busy, hospitals crowded. The after effects are disturbing to the kidneys and oftentimes people suffer without knowing that disordered kidney action may cause the trouble.

After colds, fever and similar ills there is an increase of body impurities the kidneys must filter from the blood. If the kidneys are overtaxed and fail to remove excess acid and other harmful waste, there is poisoning of the whole system.

Symptoms of disturbed kidney function may be nagging backache, persistent

Great Britain Hastens Rearmament Program

Obtained by special permission of the war office, this remarkable photograph shows activities in a British shell inspection shop in an armaments factory. Britain is now embarked on a vast program of rearmament in the navy, army and royal air force. Sir Kingsley Wood, air minister, outlining the government's air defense program, told the house of commons that next year's air estimates will be increased to about $1,000,000,000, compared to about $600,000,000 in the present year.

Headliners in Lima Pan-American Parley

Alfred M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential candidate, has been named as one of this country's representatives at the Pan-American conference in Lima, Peru. Appointment of the former Kansas governor by President Roosevelt was regarded by some students of political affairs as an example to nations who do not countenance two-party systems or presidential opposition. Dr. Carlos Concha, right, minister of foreign affairs of Peru, will be president of the eighth international conference of American states.

Control Of Weevils In Corn Explained

For treating weevil-infested corn on the farm, nothing is cheaper, more effective, or more readily available than carbon disulphide, advises J. O. Rowell, extension entomologist at State college. But this chemical is very inflammable and explosive and should be used with care. Fire of any kind, excessive heat, or frictional or static electricity should not be allowed near the containers being fumigated with this chemical.

Rowell explained that weevils are by far the most destructive insect pests of stored corn, annually taking a toll of about 14 per cent of North Carolina's crop. They begin their attack in the field, but when the corn is harvested and stored in the barn, conditions are very favorable for the rapid increase of the pests.

Storage bins and cribs of all kinds should be thoroughly cleaned, accumulations of old grain removed, and the woodwork treated before the new corn is stored. Any odorless, tasteless, water-white petroleum similar to that contained in commercial fly sprays is suitable to treat the walls and floors of empty bins, the entomologist says.

Accumulations of old grain and floor sweepings from the previous crop should be burned or, if it is to be used as feed, fumigated with carbon disulphide. Sweepings may be placed in a tight bin or barrel and the chemical poured directly over it, using the fluid at the rate of about three-fourths of a pint to a barrel of sweepings. The container should be covered immediately with a double thickness of wrapping paper and tied tightly around the top, leaving sealed for 24 hours to allow the fumes to penetrate all portions of the sweepings.

REACHING

Milk production, which in the summer and fall of this year was the highest in 14 years of record keeping, is expected to reach a new peak during the coming winter, says John A. Arey, extension dairyman at State college.

WILL LEND 57 CENTS

The November corn estimate of 2,480,958,000 bushels, recently issued by the U. S. department of agriculture, establishes the rate of 57 cents a bushel for loans made on 1938 corn to farmers in commercial corn areas.
