

Prizes for Attendance At Regional Conference

Mrs. Charles W. Tillett, state publicity chairman of the regional conference of Democratic women, announced prizes which will be awarded at the regional conference of Democratic women to be held in Winston-Salem May 23-24. Attractive prizes have been donated by civic leaders in Winston-Salem and will be awarded by Mrs. T. W. Watson, chairman of conference arrangements, and will be as follows:

- 1st—A prize to each county vice-chairman who has a representative attending conference from each precinct in her county.
- 2nd—A prize to each district vice-chairman who has a delegation of at least five women from each county in her district.
- 3rd—A prize to each district digest director who has a Democratic digest in every precinct in every county in her district.
- 4th—A prize to the state vice-chairman among the 11 states participating in the conference, who has the largest state delegation at the conference. North Carolina will not compete for this prize.

Macon NYA Work To Be Shown In Raleigh

Examples of weaving and wood carving made by the boys and girls of Macon county who are employed on national youth administration projects, will be shown at the youth craft exhibit and conference to be held in Raleigh May 19 and 20.

The conference, sponsored by the N. C. council of youth-serving agencies, will combine an extensive exhibit of handicraft achievements by youth of North Carolina with an open forum discussion program dealing with immediate problems facing young people today.

Among organizations which will participate are the 4-H clubs, future farmers of America, CCC and the WPA education and employment division.

John A. Lang, state director of NYA, states that a number of outstanding speakers from this and other states, have accepted invitations to attend and take part in a general discussion of problems and activities of youth at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium May 19-20.

Forest Service Continues Stocking Game Areas

Sportsmen will be pleased to hear that the forest service is very active in its restocking program of the three game management areas within the Nantahala national forest. There have recently been secured from the Wallalla fish hatchery 60,000 trout which have been placed in the Arrowood rearing pools.

These trout will be fed and cared for this year and in the fall after they have reached a size of five or more inches, they will be planted in the trout streams of Fires creek, Standing Indian, and Wayah game refuges. This type of restocking has been going on for the past two years and for the first time this year fishing will be permitted on these game management areas.

The forest service looks for excellent fishing and is currently making plans for continued restocking.

May 18 Fishing Date In Wildlife Areas

Fishing on the cooperative wildlife management areas within the Nantahala national forest during the open dates will be permitted from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. The first open date will be May 18. Each fisherman will be requested to check in at a checking station each morning and check out each night. Before checking out, each day's catch must be reported to the checking station.

Firearms or dogs will not be permitted. Camp fires will be permitted only at definitely designated places. With 12 hours of actual fishing each day anglers should have little difficulty in catching their limit of large sized fish.

The old time record for the catch of large sized fish is threatened. See if you can break the record.
