Benfield will leave directly after the morning service to attend the Baptist World Alliance in Atlanta.

HIGHLANDS TEAM WINS FROM GLENVILLE
The Highlands baseball team won over the Glenville team on the home field last Sunday in a score of 18 to 9, with 18 runs and 12 hits for Glenville, Moss and Robertson.

Highlands' second team played Cashiers on the Cashiers field the same day, winning with a score of 15 to 10. A feature of this game was the home run made by Leslie Reese, said to be the longest ball ever hit on that field.

An Anderson, S. C., team is scheduled to play Highlands here next Sunday afternoon.

LOCAL STAR GAZER SAYS MARS VERY BRILLIANT
According to a local star-gazer, a brilliant object in the heavens during July is the planet Mars, which is approaching the earth at present and increasing in brightness. On July 23 Mars will be in opposition to the sun, and nearest to the earth on July 27. At this time Mars will outshine all the stars and planets except Venus. The latter, however, rises only a short time before the sun this month and is not in a favorable position for observation.

Mars is in the constellation Capricornus and appears in the southeastern sky around 9 p. m. Look for Mars these clear nights. You might be well rewarded for your trouble.

MRS. PARKER HOSTESS TO BAPTIST W. M. U.

Mrs. Joe Parker was hostess to the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union at the July meeting at the parsonage. At this meeting the Union voted to send resolutions of respect to The Biblical Recorder for Mrs. Phoebe Crisp, who died June 18. Mrs. Crisp was a charter member of the Union and a life-long subscriber to The Recorder.

The hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by little Barbara Zoellner.

DISTINGUISHED AUTHORESS AT HOTEL EDWARDS

Although she has striven to keep her identity, it has been learned that Highlands has at its Hotel Edwards a most distinguished authoress and playwright—namely Mrs. Edwina Mac Donald, 3005 Bay Court, Tampa, Fla.

Tired from strenuous duties attached to the art of story and play writing, Mrs. Mac Donald sought a quiet spot in which to mend jangled nerves and decided upon the Carolina resort. But her renown as a novelist was not to remain a secret inasmuch as her identity was discovered by other guests.

Mrs. Mac Donald, like most artists, was hesitant in discussing her work. However it was learned that aside from being a descendant of the family of Andrew Jackson, who did not do badly as a scribe, she has written many books, short stories, serials and plays which have taken their place in the hall of literary fame.

Among them are Happiness; a La Mode; Lady of New Orleans; Leona Goes A Fishing; Male Help Wanted; and scores of other works. Many of her stories have appeared in Cosmopolitan, American, Liberty, and on the silver screen as film versions. She was born in Louisiana and was educated at Louisiana State Normal school. Later she taught at Indianola College, Tecumseh, Okla.

For a number of years she appeared on New York stages and elsewhere in theatricals with Thomas Wise. Also she is a member of several literary societies among them being the Author's League of America. Mrs. Mac Donald has written under the pen names of Edwina Le Vin, Kay Johnson and Edwina L. Mac Donald.

THE CHURCHES OF HIGHLANDS

By Miss Dorothea Harbison
Highlands offers a choice of four churches to those who wish to attend services on Sunday. All of these churches are located on Main street and a short distance from the center of town.

Going west on Main street one comes to the Methodist church, a white building close to the sidewalk, on the south side of the street. This is the newest of the churches, having been built about a quarter of a century ago. Although the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Beadle, has charge of several churches in the neighboring communities, there are services here every Sunday through the summer months at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m., and Sunday school at 10 a. m. Mr. Beadle, his wife, and young son live in the Methodist parsonage near the Baptist church.

A little further along the street on the north side is the Baptist church situated on a hill above the street, and reached by stone steps and a stone walk. This building is one of the two oldest churches and has the largest membership. On any Sunday morning crowds of children may be seen on their way to this church to attend Sunday school. There are services here every Sunday at 11 a. m. and at 8 p. m., and Sunday school at 10 a. m. A meeting of the Baptist Training Union is held at 7 p. m. The pastor, the Rev. J. G. Benfield and Mrs. Benfield live in the newly-built parsonage next to the church.

On East Main street not far from the town square is the Presbyterian church, which, like the Baptist church, was erected a few years after the founding of Highlands. The large cream-colored building stands well back above the street in a beautiful setting of oaks and stately evergreens. There are morning services every Sunday at 11 a. m., and Sunday school at 10:15 a. m. The Christian Endeavor Society meets at 8 p. m. The pastor, the Rev. R. B. DuPree, and his wife, and their baby son live in the manse on Fifth street.

The Church of the Incarnation, Episcopal, is just beyond the Presbyterian church on the opposite side of the street in the midst of white oaks and native shrubbery. Morning services are held here every Sunday during the summer months by visiting ministers who assist the Rev. Frank Bloxham, the Rector. Mr. Bloxham lives in Franklin where he has charge of St. Agnes Episcopal church.

The people of Highlands invite all visitors to worship with them on Sundays. Perhaps some special blessing may come to those who attend services in this little mountain town where one is ever aware of the beauties of nature, and feels at times very "Near to the peace of Heaven."
