

50-PIECE BAND SEEMS ASSURED

More Applications Than Places; Director To Arrive Aug. 10

It now seems assured that Franklin will have a first class 50-piece band in the near future. Those who are working for the organization state that more applications have been received than there are places to be filled, and J. G. Womble, who will train and direct the band, is expected to arrive in Franklin on August 10, and will start to work at once. He will be accompanied by his wife, who is also a musician.

Mr. Womble is a graduate of both Mars Hill and Davidson colleges. He has done considerable work at Appalachian State Teachers' college and the University of North Carolina. While at Mars Hill and the University he played in the bands there. He also played in the orchestra of Davidson, Appalachian and Mars Hill colleges. In addition to his band and orchestra experience, he was a member of the Glee clubs of Mars Hill, Appalachian, and Davidson. His training in music includes lessons on pipe organ, piano, trumpet, saxophone, clarinet, and violin.

Mrs. Womble is a graduate of Appalachian State Teachers' college. She has had extensive training on piano, saxophone, and clarinet, and has helped her husband in organizing and training his bands.

Prior to their coming to Franklin, the Womblees were for two years at the J. W. Cannon high school at Kannapolis. While there Mr. Womble coached his band to win a second place in the North Carolina state music contest.
