OWENS' BID ACCEPTED FOR WATER IMPROVEMENTS

In a meeting of the Mayor and board of commissioners of the town of Highlands last Saturday, several bids were presented for the proposed water improvements for the town, and the bid of John G. Owens of Franklin, registered engineer of North Carolina, was accepted by the board. This is a WPA project and Mr. Owens began work last Tuesday. He will make the necessary field survey and prepare drawings to submit to the board of commissioners for its approval. He will redraft the WPA proposal project to conform to the new designs and findings, and will obtain the approval of the state board of health and the WPA on all plans, designs and engineering services.

He will also make an investigation of the present water distribution system in the town with reference to pipe sizes, capacities, pressures and quantities, and will draft a report and recommendations on this investigation to the board of commissioners. Native stone wherever needed in this work will be used, and the town given credit for same; credit will also be given for any new materials the town has on hand.

Mr. Owens has been connected with the government for the past five years, the last year being with the Works Progress Administration. He has resigned his position with the government, effective September 15, and will return to private practice in Asheville, where he maintained offices for a number of years prior to his appointment to the National Park service, in the engineering department. Mr. Owens expects also to open a branch office in Franklin.

BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSURES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A very successful two weeks' Bible school at the Presbyterian church closed last Friday with a picnic lunch on Harris Lake and commencement exercises at the church Friday night. The interesting program was composed of memory work, the senior class reciting the 14th Chapter of John entirely from memory; dramatization of Bible stories and choruses were also part of the program. At the close of the program Bible school certificates were awarded to 32 pupils.

The school was directed by Mr. Hubert Wardlaw, Bible school director of the Asheville Presbytery. The teachers were the Rev. W. R. Bustle, Miss Lavinia Brown and Miss Anne Black.

MUSEUM AND LABORATORY MEETING HELD SATURDAY

The Ninth Annual meeting of the Highlands Museum and Biological Laboratory was held last Saturday at the Weyman Memorial Laboratory. All officers and trustees were unanimously re-elected, with the exception of the vice-president, Dr. Hessler, who was replaced by Dr. E. E. Reinke, due to the fact that Dr. Hessler could so seldom be here. In a short talk Dr. Foreman predicted that the very near future would see the laboratory and the Museum operating separately, each having its own board of trustees.

Dr. Leland Shanor, acting curator, estimated the number of people visiting the Museum through July and August to be 400. He told of several interesting trips sponsored by the Museum, and of the mounted specimen of Northern Raven given to the Museum by Dr. Clark Foreman, of Washington, D. C., and the aquaria presented by Dr. William Duane of Philadelphia. The very beautiful water colors of native plants on the walls of the laboratory, made by Mrs. Mary Motz Wills, were very much admired by the visitors at this meeting.

Among the scientists who have been working at the laboratory this summer are Doctors C. S. Chadwick, George Mitchell, Walter Yeider, Harold Bold, and E. E. Reinke, of Vanderbilt university; Dr. Velma Matthews, Coker college; Doctors Hiden Cox, Lindsay Olive, Alma Whiffen, Laurie Stewart, Leland Shanor, John A. Fincher, Alma Holland, and W. C. Coker, of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Thelma Howell, Duke university; and a number of undergraduates from Furman university. The president, Dr. Coker, reported that even more work had been done this summer than last.

Announcement was made at the meeting that work on the Museum building would begin on the 10th of September. Cakes and punch were served in the laboratory at the close of the meeting.
