Makers Consider War In Drafting Program

Thorough consideration was given to the present European situation and its possible effects on American agriculture when the 1940 AAA program was drafted, according to E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer at State college.

The provisions of the new program dealing with agricultural conservation measures follow closely those in effect this year and are based on farmer recommendations. Farmers will have plenty of time before planting dates to plan cropping operations in accordance with provisions of the 1940 program.

The wheat allotment of 62,000,000 acres, larger by 7,000,000 acres than the 1939 allotment, has already been announced, as have tentative wheat conservation and price adjustment payments. Acreage goals for other major crops, together with rates of payments, will be established later in view of developing conditions.

An important provision which will encourage further soil conservation measures on small farms insures that as much as $20 may be earned on every farm participating in the program. Another conservation provision will encourage the planting of forest trees on farms by allowing growers to earn up to $30 for tree planting. This would be in addition to the regular soil-building allowance for the farm.

Floyd said soil-building practices have been provided to meet more adequately the needs for soil conservation, and special emphasis will be given to wildlife. In areas where food for the farm family is generally inadequate, a home-garden provision will be available. The new provisions also extend the commercial vegetable programs to more counties than in 1939.

Close Growing Crops Battle Soil Erosion

As a part of the erosion-control program on 18,000 farms in the Southeast, more than 500,000 acres have been planted to erosion-resisting crops and more than 1,000,000 acres to semi-erosion-resisting vegetation, reports R. Y. Bailey, chief of the regional agronomy division of the Soil Conservation Service.

The use of this close growing vegetation, a practice recommended by the State college extension service, has been one of the most outstanding developments on these 18,000 farms in erosion-control demonstration areas.

While the soil conserving value of these crops has been of tremendous benefit to the individual farmers, Bailey believes the greatest benefit has been the opportunity this aggregate acreage has afforded to develop a proper conception of a complete, vegetative program.

The average farmer was interested at first only in one or two types of vegetation, the agronomist said. So it was difficult to get complete, well-balanced treatment covering the entire farm.

As farmers and soil conservation service workers developed a better understanding of a complete erosion control program, they realized that if the job were ever done it would require not one, but several types of vegetation on each farm.

A complete vegetative program requires effective use of perennial crops on the steeper portions of the farm, the use of suitable vegetation in water disposal systems, the proper treatment of pastures, roadsides, gullies, field borders, and other often-neglected areas.

Only where every portion of the farm is given proper vegetative treatment can the erosion problem be solved, Bailey said.

ISAIAH: FORETELLING THE BIRTH OF THE MESSIANIC KING

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 7:14; 9:1-7; 11:1-5

GOLDEN TEXT—His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.—Isaiah 9:6.

Christ is coming! Christ has come! Christ is coming again! All three of these great truths are declared by Holy Scripture. In our lesson for today we study the prophecy of His birth which was given by Isaiah about 750 years before the event took place, and with it we find many beautiful details concerning His blessed character and accomplishments. It is entirely appropriate that the lesson for today should be taken from the Old Testament and relate to the prophecy of the coming of the Messianic King, thus binding together the Old and the New Testaments. Isaiah's prophecy prepares us to study His life in the Gospel of Matthew, beginning next week.

I. The Coming of the King (7:14; 9:1-6).

To us it is entirely understandable that the Son of God was to become flesh and dwell among us and that all the grace and power of God should be upon Him, for we know that He did come in perfect fulfillment of the Scriptures. But let us not fail to note the marvel of this revelation made centuries in advance through God's prophet.

1. Born of a Virgin (7:14; 9:6).

He was to be born. Christ did not come as a fully matured divine being after the fashion of the so-called gods of mythology, but He entered our needy world as the Babe of Bethlehem's manger. What infinite condescension!

He was to be born of a virgin, and so He was. There are those who would minimize the importance of this, or try to explain it away by interpreting the word "virgin" to mean a young married woman. The late Robert Dick Wilson, an outstanding authority, says, "The great and only difficulty lies in disbelief in predictive prophecy and in the almighty power of God, or in the desire to throw discredit on the divine Sonship."

2. God with Us (7:14).

"Immanuel" means "God with us." Isaiah had a foregleam of the incarnation which brought the eternal Son of God into that God-man relationship which was absolutely indispensable if there was to be redemption. Sin had made a barrier between God and man which man could not pass, and only as the God-man, Christ Jesus came through that barrier to be "God with us" could there be any hope of our salvation.

3. A Great Light (9:2).

The Messiah was to break through the dense darkness of sin and sorrow to bring light and joy. How gloriously that prophecy has been fulfilled!

II. The Character of the King (9: 6; 7: 11-15).

The prophet foretold not only the meaningful names of the coming Messiah, but pictured in glowing beauty the mighty things which He was to accomplish.

1. Revealed by His Names (9:6).

"Wonderful"—that word has been so misused that it means comparatively little to us. It really fulfills its true meaning in Christ. He is unique, remarkable, yes, truly wonderful. "Counsellor"—in every detail of life, great or small, an infallible guide. "Mighty God"—not just like God, or representing God; Christ is God. "Everlasting Father"—the tender and loving, un-falling One to whom time does not bring any change, for He is the "Father of eternity." "Prince of Peace"—He is not yet the ruler of the nations of the world, hence we hear not only of wars but of rumors of wars. Mark it well that there will be no enduring peace until He comes to reign whose right it is to reign, the divine Prince of Peace.

2. Revealed by His Deeds (9:7; 11:1-5).

Eternal justice and righteousness, peace, wisdom, understanding, counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of God, unfailing equity—all these glorious accomplishments are to characterize the Messiah according to Isaiah's prophecy.

Has the prophecy been fulfilled? We know that all of these qualities were in Christ when He came to earth the first time, but the complete fulfillment of this prophecy awaits that day toward which the child of God looks with joy and hope when Christ shall come again. As we study this portion of our lesson, our hearts should cry out with John, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus" (Rev. 22:20).

To Gain Truth

Truth is never learned in any department of industry by arguing, but by working and observing; and, when you have got hold of one truth for certain, 10 others will grow out of it. The assertion of truth is to be always gentle.—Ruskin.
