NOTED LAWYER DIES SEPT. 28

Jasper N. Moody Passes
At Home In Murphy;
Funeral Friday

Jasper Newton Moody, one of the outstanding lawyers of Western North Carolina, died at his home in Murphy shortly after 3 o'clock last Thursday afternoon. He had been ill almost a year.

Termed one of the most prominent trial lawyers in the state by his associates, Mr. Moody had practiced law in every county in Western North Carolina and in both state and federal courts since 1899 when he received his law license. He had probably defended more men in capital cases than any other lawyer in this section. In no case in which he was the defending attorney was the death sentence imposed.

Was Native Of Graham

Mr. Moody was a native of Graham county where he was prominent in civic and professional life before going to Murphy to practice. He was educated in the high school at Hayesville, in Clay county, Hiawasse college, Hiawasse, Ga., Western Carolina Teachers' college, Cullowhee, and at the University of North Carolina.

While residing in Graham county, he taught in the public schools for more than 10 years and was superintendent of schools for four years. After passing the bar examination, he began the practice of law. He moved to Murphy in 1914.

Active In Politics

He was active in politics there and was chairman of his party during the famous "red shirt campaign." He was an active member of the Masonic lodge and a member of the Methodist church.

Mr. Moody had hundreds of friends in Macon county, and appeared as counsel in practically every important case tried in superior court in Franklin. His passing was a matter of deep regret to all who knew him in this section. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in the Cherokee county courthouse with hundreds of people packing the courtroom to pay final tribute to the outstanding member of the bar.

The rites were held at 2 o'clock amid more than 2,000 floral designs. Felix E. Alley, of Waynesville, superior court judge, officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Paisley, the Rev. Van B. Harrison, and the Rev. J. C. Ammons.

Tribute was paid Mr. Moody for his outstanding service as an attorney in Western North Carolina since 1899 and as a public-spirited citizen.

The Masonic lodge was in charge of the last rites at the grave. There were 157 honorary pallbearers, including members of the Masonic lodge.

Mr. Moody is survived by his widow and three children, Ralph, of Raleigh, Howard, of Murphy, and Mrs. Catherine Noland.

Teachers

Hear District President of
N. C. E. A. Saturday

O. S. Dillard, district president of the N. C. E. A., was the principal speaker at the Macon County Teachers' Association, Saturday morning, September 30, at the Franklin high school.

Mr. Dillard spoke on the subject "Making Teaching a Profession in North Carolina." He stressed the fact that teachers must learn and observe the ethical code of the teaching profession in order to truthfully call teaching a profession.

Mr. Dillard also emphasized the fact that teachers should be more loyal to their profession, to their colleagues, and to the principles for which they stand.

All teachers in North Carolina should be affiliated with the N. C. E. A., the speaker stated. He also reviewed instances to prove how much this Association has aided the teachers.

An election of officers for the Macon County Association was held at this meeting. Mrs. Helen Macon was re-elected president; W. H. Finley, vice-president, and J. J. Mann, secretary for the group. Plans for attending the district meeting of the N. C. E. A., to be held in Asheville October 20-21, were discussed.

It Is The Sensible Thing To Do

Mistakes made in funerals cannot be adjusted like errors in other transactions. People, generally, need correct information that will safeguard their interests.

Everybody should give careful thought to the funeral subject before they are called upon to make funeral arrangements. It is the sensible thing to do.
