KELPIN-CRAWFORD

In a ceremony of simplicity and dignity, Miss Sara Kelpin, of Atlanta, Ga., became the bride of John Lee Crawford, also of Atlanta, at high noon on Saturday, October 28, at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Myra Allman, in Franklin.

The Rev. C. F. Rogers, pastor of the Franklin Baptist church, was the officiating minister, using the double ring ceremony.

The vows were spoken before the old colonial fireplace in the dining room, with an improvised altar of hemlock, chrysanthemums and autumn foliage. On either side of the altar were nine branched candelabra holding lighted white tapers. The remainder of the house was decorated with baskets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and the colorful autumn foliage.

Mrs. C. F. Rogers, of Franklin, rendered a program of violin music, including "Traumeri and Romance", and the bridal chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was played as the bride party entered. During the taking of the vows, "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs-Bond was softly played. "To A Wild Rose" and "Sweet mystery of Life" concluded the musical program.

Miss Mary Allman, of Franklin, and an aunt of the bride, was the matron of honor, and only attendant.

Entering with her father, H. B. Kelpin, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Neil Hopkins, of Atlanta. The bride was attired in a dress of regal blue chiffon velvet, with a close fitting turban of matching color. Her only ornament was an old gold necklace worn by her great-grandmother at her wedding, and which now belongs to Mrs. William Katenbrink, an aunt of the bride. She carried a white prayer book, a gift from her Sunday school class in Atlanta, and a lace handkerchief that was near 100 years old. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Kelpin is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kelpin, of 616 N. Highlands avenue, Atlanta, and is a graduate of the Atlanta Commercial high school. She has spent most of her summers in Franklin and is very popular among the younger social set.

Mr. Crawford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Crawford, of Atlanta. He is a graduate of Tech high school and now holds a position as draftsman with the Warren company in Atlanta.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. William Katenbrink, assisted by Mrs. A. B. Omohundro, Miss Lu Ellen Davis, of Franklin, and Mrs. Harry Bell, of Coral Gables, Fla. Mrs. Lola P. Barrington presided over the punch bowl. The dining table was overlaid with a lovely lace cloth, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and flanked on either side with lighted white tapers in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford left immediately for a short wedding trip through Western North Carolina. After their return they will reside in Atlanta.

For traveling the bride donned a moss green wool dress and a cross fox fur coat with accessories of black.

The out-of-town guests included, Mrs. M. A. Crawford, mother of the groom, and Miss Jewell Crawford, a sister, of Atlanta; Mrs. Ada Reavis Elrod, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Harry Bell, of Coral Gables, Fla.
