Power Company Reduces Commercial Rates

The Nantahala Power and Light company has announced that the North Carolina Utilities Commission at Raleigh has approved new reduced commercial lighting and power rates for its customers in Macon county and the other counties in Western North Carolina served by the Nantahala company.

Those stores and other places of business now served on the company's commercial lighting rate will receive the greatest benefit from the reduced rates. The reduction in revenue from all commercial customers will amount to about 15 per cent.

The industrial power rates have been reduced, so that the bills to customers using industrial power will be reduced on an average of about 10 per cent.

No changes are being made in the rates to household customers, as the residential lighting rate was reduced on January 1, 1939. The residential rate for customers with electric ranges has been reported by the Federal Power Commission as one of the lowest in the state for small communities.

During the past year, the number of customers served by the power company in Macon county has increased about 20 per cent. The great majority of the new customers are residential, and most of them live outside of Franklin and are served from rural electric lines built by the company.

The power company serves customers in Macon, Cherokee, Jackson, Graham, Swain and Clay counties. A line from Sylva was recently completed and the company is now working on an extension from Cullowhee to East LaPorte in Jackson county. In addition, a number of other rural extensions in other counties are being constructed.

The power company has recently put in new street lighting fixtures of the most modern type on Main street without cost to the town. Also a new traffic light has been installed at the intersection of U. S. Highways 23 and 64.

Fire Destroys Setser Home October 26

The home of C. A. Setser, and practically all of the household furnishings, was destroyed by fire early last Thursday evening.

The house, which was known as the old Baird home, about three miles west of Franklin, was a nine-room frame structure. The kitchen and dining room were aflame when the fire was discovered, and both Mr. and Mrs. Setser had been away from home all day.

Paul Seay, a son of Mrs. Setser, who lives near by, discovered the fire but was able to save only a few articles of furniture. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 5

RIGHTEOUSNESS IN THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:17-20. 38-45; 6:14.
GOLDEN TEXT—He ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matthew 5:48.

"Righteousness in the kingdom," the title of our lesson, properly relates its teaching to the kingdom of the Messiah which is to come on the earth, and to the condition which shall then prevail. At the same time we agree with Dr. James M. Gray that "it would be wrong to press this too far and to say that the Sermon on the Mount has no application whatever to the Christian church or the time in which we live, for God is the same through all dispensations and the underlying principles of His government never change."

Certainly it is true that if all of the men and all of the nations of the earth were on this Armistice Sunday true followers of Christ and ready to carry out the teachings of this lesson, there would no longer be any possibility of war. This means that the best peace propaganda is the sending of missionaries and teachers to all the earth to win men to Christ.

Our lesson should be studied and taught with great care lest we confuse morality with Christianity and make it appear that men are justified before God by their good works rather than by their faith in Christ.

I. Christ Fulfills the Law (5:17-20).

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, although we might properly say that He was in reality the Law-giver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish that those who profess to be His servants might have the same measure of regard for God's law. If they did, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore it, so quick to change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master every "jot and tittle," that is, even the minutest detail of His Word.

Recognizing Christ as the fulfillment of the law should prepare one to manifest obedience to every moral precept through His grace and by His strength. Certainly it should not lead anyone to lawlessness or carelessness regarding details of the daily walk. Fellowship with the Saviour should be revealed in consistent living (v. 20).

II. Christ Explains the Law (5:38-45).

Look at verses 21 to 37. The spirit of murder is anger (vv. 21, 22). A lustful look is adultery (vv. 27-30), and it is better to be blind than to be guilty of it. Divorce is linked very plainly with adultery (vv. 31, 32). Swearing is forbidden (vv. 33-37). Thus Christ strips outward conformity to the law of its apparent virtue and reveals that with God it is the spirit that gives meaning to the act.

He goes on to make plain that God alone is wise enough to take vengeance, that we ought never to retaliate with evil for evil. Note that verse 39 probably refers to an insult rather than to physical violence; that in verse 40 it is a question of a difference of opinion in which the other man feels that he has a legal right to your coat; and that here, as in verses 41 and 42, it is not a matter of letting a wicked or scheming person defraud you of your rights or property, but rather of doing what is required of you in an ungrudging spirit and of being generous with others who are in need. In Christ we are to be like our heavenly Father and love our enemies (vv. 43-45).

III. Christ Illustrates the Law (6:1-4).

Possibly it would be more appropriate for us to say that Christ here illustrates the right and the wrong way of fulfilling the law. How very clear He makes it that the one who, while ostensibly doing the will of God, actually is seeking the recognition and glory of men has received his full reward; for men have applauded his act of generosity. The transaction is complete and God has nothing to do with it at all. On the other hand, the one who gives in the spirit of Christ, not wanting men to know of his faithful stewardship (v. 4), and in fact making no reckoning of it himself (v. 3), may be certain that he has a heavenly Father who takes careful account of the loving deeds of His children and who will reward him, both in this world and in the world to come.
