Presenting the Perfect Pumpkin Pie

"SURE, we'll have pumpkin pie—but I wish it could be just a bit different." Well, we've heard many a conscientious meal-planner say just that, as the holidays swing along. And we think this delicious, melt-in-your-mouth Buttermilk pie will do all those things you've wished for so often.

BUTTERMILK PUMPKIN PIE

- 2 cups cooked or canned pumpkin
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1/2 cup brown sugar

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 3 eggs
- Unbaked pie shell
- American cheese

Combine the pumpkin, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, molasses and sugar and mix well. Stir in the buttermilk and slightly beaten eggs and pour into the pie shell. Bake in a very hot oven (450°F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) and bake for 50 to 60 minutes longer or until set. When ready to serve decorate the top of the pie with leaf shaped pieces of cheese cut with a cookie cutter from sliced cheese. This recipe makes a 9-inch pie.

Cows Eat More, Give Less Milk, When Cold

You can't produce cold milk by leaving a cow out in the winter winds, or by forcing her to drink ice water. A cow is a remarkable animal. She transforms grain and forage into milk, the most complete of all human foods, but she must be comfortable to do a good and economical job, says John A. Arey, dairy specialist of the State college extension service.

"If cows are unduly exposed to bad weather or housed in cold, poorly-bedded stalls, too large a portion of their ration is used in keeping their bodies warm, leaving a greatly reduced portion for milk production," the specialist declared. "It is poor economy to substitute feed for shelter and a comfortable stall, especially this winter when the market on feed grains is showing a strong upward trend."

Arey also said it is poor economy to require a cow to drink icy cold water, since she will not drink enough to support a good milk flow. A cow weighing 800 to 900 pounds and producing from 25 to 30 pounds of milk daily needs 80 to 90 pounds of water daily. She will not drink this quantity during cold weather unless it is convenient and of a medium temperature.

"Too often a herd is turned out of the barn after milking in the morning for water and is allowed to stay out in the mud and cold wind until milking time in the afternoon. Then dairymen wonder why milk production falls off and feed consumption rises. As winter approaches, every effort necessary should be exerted to keep the cows comfortable," the specialist advised.

American Boy Magazine Companion To Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

The American Boy sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

REACTIONS TO THE GOOD NEWS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 11:16-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.—Matthew 11:28-30.

The response which men and women make to the preaching of the gospel today determines their destiny for time and eternity, just as it did when Jesus was first sending out His disciples to preach.

How do you react to the gospel message? Indifference will keep a man from Christ just as effectively as open rejection. A childlike faith, on the other hand, will bring a man into delightful fellowship with Him in both life and service. The Lord gives rest for the soul and companionship in the yokefellowship of Christian service.

I. Childish Dissatisfaction (vv. 16-19).

Jesus, who was skilled in the art of teaching, took a familiar scene from the daily life of the people to show how utterly childish was the criticism of His enemies. Children at play, trying to interest their companions, present a wedding scene of great joy with no response. They then try the opposite with no better result.

The enemies of Christ were just like such children, and His enemies are the same today. Opposition to the gospel likes to clothe itself in learned phraseology and express itself in the terms of dignified logic, but in fact it is but an expression of personal feelings encouraged by the devil and altogether like those of disgruntled children. Not often does it show its true nature in a forthright expression of unbelief and infidelity, for it prefers to hide behind some self-righteous criticism which it can level against Christian people or against their faith.

Why not be honest, unbeliever who reads these lines, and tell the truth about your reasons for failing to accept Christ. When you do that you will find that they are not reasons at all but only excuses, and there will then be hope for your repentance and conversion.

II. Deadly Indifference (vv. 20-24).

Rejection of Christ may be bad and all too often is simply indifference to His holy person and work. Jesus pronounced an awful judgment on the cities which had been honored by His presence and His great works, and which should have been awed by His message and power but which had passed Him by in bored indifference.

These again are typical of countless thousands who today comfort themselves by saying, "I do not oppose the Church; I'm not against Christianity. I just don't take any position either for or against." By so doing they have declared themselves to be against Christ. Jesus said, "He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad" (Matt. 12:30). Let not such think for a moment that their judgment shall be less severe than that of the cities of Chorazin and Bethsaida!

III. Childlike Faith (vv. 25, 26).

God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ have a great and loving interest in the touching beauty of the faith of a child. The unquestioning dependence, the absolute assurance of the child heart, these are the things that receive an answer from the Almighty.

This is not intended to reflect in any way on those who may have learning, wisdom and power but who with all have maintained a childlike humility. God knows them and honors and uses them. The point we do want to make is that all too often learning and standing in this world are a barrier between men and God simply because men put their trust in these things and not in Him. It is always a serious matter when a man permits his God-given ability to think, to come between him and God. What folly it is to expect the infinite and eternal God who made all things, including the brain of man, to in turn pass through the narrow compass of finite thinking.

IV. Restful Companionship (vv. 27-30).

A study of the theories and philosophies of this world leads only to unrest. Bewildered and unhappy is the man who puts his trust in them. But in Christ the weary and belabored human soul will find perfect and eternal rest. Why then does the mass of men reject Him to go on to wander in despair?

The rest which we find in Christ is not a useless and inactive repose. Far from it. It is a blessed yokefellowship with Christ in carrying forward His work. Here man finds his real usefulness, for only here is he liberated from the limitations of sin and self and joined in a yoke with the One in whom dwells all wisdom and power.
