Macon county marriage license records show a reduction of 56 per cent in the number of licenses issued during the year of 1939, compared to that of 1938. In 1938 there were marriage license issued to 50 couples, while in 1939 there were only 20 issued.

Lester Arnold, register of deeds for Macon county, attributes this decrease largely to the new state law requiring physical examinations and laboratory tests, and to the fact that couples can go across the line to Georgia and get married with no examination or test.

Many couples from Macon county as well as from many other counhave returned from Orlando, Fla., ties in Western North Carolina go to Clayton, Ga., where Judge Ramey, ordinary for Rahun county, not only issues the license, but marries the couples as well,
