

Funeral Held For Frank P. Moore Saturday

Funeral services for Frank P. Moore, 55, were held at the Carson Chapel Methodist church, three miles west of Franklin on the Murphy road, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. I. L. Roberts, pastor of the church and the Rev. J. A. Flanagan, pastor of the Franklin Presbyterian church and pastor of the deceased, were in charge of the services. Interment was in the church cemetery.

The body of Mr. Moore was brought to the Bryant Funeral home following his death at the State hospital on Friday night, where it remained until Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Moore was the son of the late Joab and Leila Moore, of this county. He was a member of the Franklin Presbyterian church, and had spent most of his life in Macon county. His life's work was at the carpenter's trade.

The pallbearers were Jack K. Conley, Van Frazier, W. K. Pressley, Gilmer Waldrop, J. C. Gibson and Adolph Zoellner.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. G. F. Burrell, of Franklin Route 1, and Mrs. E. N. Cabe, of Franklin; three brothers, Ralph and Harold Moore, of Franklin Route 1, and W. L. Moore, of the Bethel community.

To Assist President in World Peace Problems

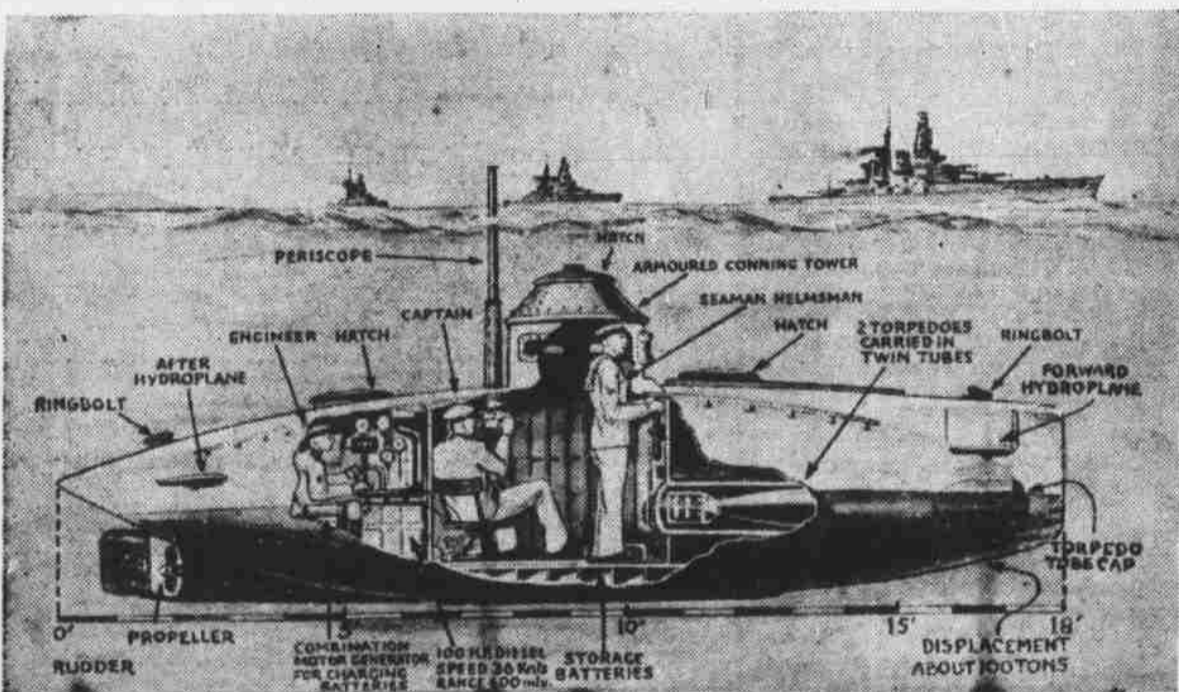

Hopes for world peace on the part of President Roosevelt have resulted in two recent far-reaching moves. First was the President's appointment of Myron C. Taylor, left, former head of United States Steel, as this country's representative to the Vatican to work with Pope Pius for peace. Second was his invitation to religious leaders to confer with him. Invitations went to Rabbi Cyrus Adler, center, president of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and to Dr. George A. Buttrick, right, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Archbishop Spellman of New York City was expected to be named as representative of Catholics in the peace conference.

Cosmic Ray Photographers Get Chilly Reception

It was 38 degrees below zero near Chicago recently—but John Q. Citizen didn't know about it, for that temperature recording was made at an altitude of 29,300 feet. A party of photographers ascended to that height to photograph cosmic rays. Perhaps Santa Claus' whiskers serve a practical purpose. They help keep him warm.

Pocket Submarine May Be Powerful Jap Sea Threat

According to reports reaching London from Tokyo, the Japanese navy finally has put an oft-reported three-man submarine into mass production. Dispatches say the boats are being turned out in mass production at a cost of $5,500 each. The craft, depicted here by an artist, measures 18 feet overall. The average modern submarine is 300 feet in length. Its displacement is 100 tons, compared to the usual 2,500 tons. It is reported that the new boat can submerge to an almost unbelievable depth of 1,800 feet. It carries only one torpedo. But one torpedo has a potential nuisance value of millions of dollars.

Finnish Air Raid 'Ears' Warn Gunners

Advance indication of raiding Russian airplanes is given by these sound detectors in the Rovaniemi section of Finland. The "ears" tell the anti-aircraft gunners that planes are approaching before they come into sight.
