HIGHLANDS POSTOFFICE OCCUPIES NEW QUARTERS

The Highlands postoffice has moved into its new quarters in the Fred A. Edwards brick building just completed on the north side of Main street next door to the barber shop. This is an attractive building with a light, airy interior and a plate glass front. The two double entrance doors will help very materially to lessen the confusion in the lobby that usually prevails around mail time, and the back entrance for the five mail trucks will relieve the traffic congestion in front of the office.

The new building has 1800 cubic feet of floor space, which is almost double the amount of space in the old building. There are 500 boxes in the new office against
