Mrs. Charles J. Anderson entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home on Fourth street on October 15 honoring Mrs. Doyle Burgess, the former Miss Cecelia Sanders of Sumter, S. C., whose marriage to Doyle Burgess of Highlands was an event of late September at the High Hills Baptist church in Statesburg, S. C.

The lower floor of the spacious Anderson home was decorated with brilliant autumn leaves and late fall flowers.
Guests were received at the door by Mrs. Jack M. Hall, Mrs. C. E. Mitchell and Mrs. J. A. Hines. Mrs. O. F. Summer played several piano selections and the arrival of the honor guest was greeted with "Here Comes the Bride". Little Miss Jane Anderson, who wore a transparent raincoat and cap over a pink party dress, entered from the dining room carrying a large basket filled with a wide variety of gifts for the bride, who was lovely in a dress of soft grey wool. After the gifts were opened and returned to the dining room where Mrs. C. E. Mitchell kept the gift book, the guests were asked to write a favorite recipe, a good wish or a bit of advice for the bride, which proved to be a humorous mixture of all three.
The hostess was assisted in serving a sweet course with salted nuts and mints by her four charming young daughters, Angela, Anne, Mary Deas and Jane, who wore dainty party frocks of pink and blue crepe.
About 40 guests were invited to meet Mrs. Burgess and she was given a warm welcome as a new Highlands resident.

1940 Call for Red Cross Recruits

The 1940 Poster of The American Red Cross sounds the call to the nation to serve humanity within the ranks of this army of mercy.

KEEPING step with the boys called to the colors in America's new defense army and navy, will be the American Red Cross, fulfilling its mission of service to the men in the line and to their loved ones at home, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced in Washington.

"Several thousand Red Cross nurses already have been called to the colors," Mr. Davis said, "and Red Cross field directors, and thousands of Red Cross workers in Chapters throughout the nation, are ready to help America's soldiers and sailors with personal problems, just as in the 1917-18 World War period."
"Every patriotic man and woman in the United States, who wants to do his or her share in upholding the national defense of our nation, can do so by sharing in the vitally important work of the Red Cross. Join as a member of the local Chapter, during the roll call, November 11 to 30, and through your support you will strengthen the Red Cross army of mercy."

"Recruits are needed not alone as members, but also as volunteer workers in the Red Cross Chapters."

Red Cross work will continue undiminished in its usual domestic program of relief in disaster; community public health nursing; safety education and promotion of the Junior Red Cross. An individual membership supports all of this work, not only in Red Cross Chapters, but in the nation. Relief to war victims in Europe is financed by the $20,000,000 war relief fund contributed by the public during the summer of 1940.

Vegetables Can Be Stored For Winter

There is no reason for discarding surplus vegetables, or for dumping them on a depressed market, says H. R. Niswonger, horticulturist of the N. C. State college extension service. But on the other hand, there is no use to store vegetables that are not of high quality, free from mechanical injuries, insects and diseases, and mature but not over-ripe.

"If you put an inferior, diseased, damaged product in storage it will come out an inferior, diseased, damaged product, in worse condition than when it went in," Niswonger declared.

The problem of where to store vegetables is important, and the State college specialist makes the following recommendations along this line: Beans and field peas may be picked in the pod, spread out in a warm dry place in the attic until dried, and after being shelled the beans should be placed in tight containers and treated with carbon disulphide to control weevils.

Root crops, such as carrots, beets and turnips, should have the tops cut off, leaving short leaf stems, before storing. They may be stored in shallow crates and placed in the cellar. An occasional sprinkling with water will prevent shriveling. Cabbage and collards can best be stored in trenches out-of-doors. Another method commonly used in Eastern Carolina consists of pushing the heads of the plants toward the North and covering the stem and base of the heads with soil. The plants are thus, left right in the row where they grew.

Sweet potatoes keep best in a dry place, and where the temperature is around 55 to 60 degrees. Onions should be kept in slatted crates in the attic where the atmosphere is dry and the temperature is around 50 degrees. A basement or cellar is not a good place to store onions. Pumpkins and squashes should also be stored in a warm dry room at a temperature of 50 degrees.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

J. How much wheat may be planted on a farm under the AAA rules?

A. As much as 10 acres of wheat may be planted on any farm, or if no wheat is sold from the farm, three acres may be planted for each family on the farm, although this amounts to more than 10 acres. The Triple-A encourages farmers to produce ample food and feed on their farms.

Q. When should lespedeza seed be harvested?

A. The Common, Tennessee 70, and Kobe varieties ripen for seed about November 1 or at the first killing frost. They should then be harvested as soon as possible to prevent losses from shattering, says E. C. Blair, Extension agronomist. Korean seed will remain on the stalk five or six weeks after they mature. In fact, they do not loosen enough to permit the use of a seed pan until three or four weeks after ripening. Korean usually matures early in October.

Q. If small grain is to follow corn or cotton, how should the land be prepared?

A. A good seed bed can be prepared on row crop land by disking if power is available. Too often, seedlings following corn and cotton are made too late to produce good yields. Late November seedlings of small grains are hazardous, and many failures result. So the grain should be seeded earlier, particularly that follows cotton and corn, as these two crops usually prevent earlier seedings.

Q. How long will it take for pullets to lay large eggs?

A. Egg size is inherited. When pullets begin laying, the eggs are quite small, but as time goes on, the bird builds egg size up to its inherited capacity to lay large eggs. In general, eggs laid in February and March are average for the bird's egg size. Diet, unless abnormal, has little effect.

Q. What is an ideal school lunch?
A. An ideal school lunch, according to the State college home demonstration department, consists of one nourishing main dish, a glass

CAR SICKNESS

Recent authorities of nausea resulting from prolonged automobile riding have led some authorities to believe that frequently such car-sickness results from ocular fatigue, reports the Better Vision Institute.

When an automobile is moving rapidly, objects flit in and out of one's line of vision. If the eye mechanism is in balance and functions easily, the images formed on each retina are transformed simultaneously to the brain, where they fuse properly. In the case of muscular or other unbalance in the seeing mechanism, considerable strain is placed upon the eyes to bring about the adjustment needed to obtain a simultaneous recording in the brain of the images supplied by both eyes. It is believed, says the Institute, that the efforts to make these adjustments cause fatigue that often results in nausea.

or two of milk, a cooked or raw vegetable or fruit, bread and butter or a sandwich, and a simple dessert. These lunches must provide the building materials for the soft tissues of the body, for sound teeth and bones, and for good red blood. At the same time, the foods must supply a source of energy for growing, active children.

A. C. F. Parrish, extension poultry specialist, says that in many cases trouble has been experienced with the flock eating too many oats where the oats are kept in the hopper before the birds at all times. The production, and sometimes the hatchability are lowered due to decreased mash consumption. To avoid such trouble, he recommends that 6 to 8 pounds of heavy oats per 100 birds be fed each afternoon.

Q. What is a good grazing mixture for dairy cows which can be planted now and grazed early next spring or converted into hay or silage?

A. John A. Arey, extension dairyman, says a good mixture for this purpose consists of 2 bushels of winter oats, one bushel of barley, one-half bushel of beardless wheat, and 10 pounds of crimson clover. Where barley is not available, increase the quantity of wheat to one bushel.

Draftees To Have Chance To Become Officers In Single Year Of Training

Any lowly recruit in the new conscript army has a chance to become an officer within the single year of training.

There has been a lot of confusion about this, and editorials have been written complaining that this is not possible. But General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, wants it known that the Army is still democratic.

Marshall points out that after the first nine months of service, any recruit has a chance to qualify for the "candidate schools" to train recruits for commissions. These schools will be organized during the last three months of the year of service.

In other words, as Napoleon put it, "Every soldier carries a marshal's baton in his knapsack."
