Will Bring The Hospital Capacity To 70 Beds

Workmen this week are rapidly completing construction of the $60,000 addition to Angel hospital here, which according to Dr. Edgar Angel, should be ready for occupancy within another week.

Built along the passageway connecting the two wings so that the building now presents a solid front, the addition comprises three new wards and two private rooms, bringing the hospital's capacity to 70 beds, a sun parlor, an emergency room, linen closets, a laundry room, and storage room.

"We have needed the additional space badly for a long time," Dr. Angel said. The increased number of patients the hospital is now treating necessitates enlarged facilities.

Steel Reinforced Brick

The new addition is built of steel-reinforced brick overall and floored with inlaid linoleum. The wards and private rooms are sound-proof, well lighted, and provided with linen closets and ample toilet facilities. An electric bell communication system will be installed, as well as radios for each ward. The sun parlor has a glass front overlooking the river valley, and will be furnished with easy chairs, a radio, books and magazines, and other conveniences for convalescent patients. Several persons in town have offered to provide flowers for the room.

All rooms in the new addition will be supplied with all-metal furniture, finished to simulate grain maple.

Three nurses and a new assistant, Dr. Frank E. Verdon, have been added to the hospital staff. Dr. Verdon is from South Belmar, N. J.

New Parking Space

Dr. Angel is also having the hospital grounds landscaped and sodded. A parking space to accommodate 30 automobiles is being laid out.

Dedication ceremonies for the new addition will be held in conjunction with a meeting of the board of trustees of the hospital with the Duke Endowment board here, probably around November 15, Dr. Angel said. William Trommell will represent the Duke board. Trustees for the hospital are M. D. Billings, A. B. Slagle and R. S. Jones.

The hospital now has a supply of radium for use in cancer and other treatments available at all times, through the generosity of a private donor.

A Garden-full of Cookies

NO, it doesn't take a lot of planting, pruning, or clipping. Our garden, today, comes out of the cookie jar (or, rather, goes into it, if there's anything left). You simply shape and frost these delightful cookies in Black-Eyed Susan shape, insert a stem, and serve with ice cream. But, the recipe gives you the complete story!

BLACK-EYED SUSAN COOKIES WITH ICE CREAM

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
3 squares chocolate
 $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate ice cream

Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add the egg and beat well. Add the melted chocolate. Mix and sift the flour, baking powder and salt and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Add the vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered cookie sheet and insert a blunt wooden stick in the side of each cookie to represent the stem. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) for about 10 minutes. This recipe makes 55 to 60 cookies. Spread frosting on cookies to resemble Black-Eyed Susans, using the yellow for petals and chocolate for centers. (A pastry tube may be used.) If desired, fill a bowl with brown sugar and insert stems of flowers. Serve with ice cream as illustrated. Make frosting as follows:

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups confectionery sugar
Few grains salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla
4 to 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons cream
Yellow coloring
 $\frac{1}{2}$ square chocolate

Mix the sugar, salt, vanilla and enough cream to make the mixture soft enough to spread or use in a pastry tube. Add a little yellow coloring to 2/3 of the mixture and melted chocolate to the remainder.

JESUS DECLARES HIS MISSION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:16-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke 19:10.

Ready for service! It's an exciting and auspicious occasion when the one who has prepared for a life work is ready to set forth on his mission. Joy and sorrow mingle; encouragement and opposition both appear and become his constant companions. Recognizing God and following His Word is of greatest importance on such a day.

The mission upon which Jesus entered on the day of our lesson was important far beyond any service of man, for, while He set out upon an earthly ministry of doing good, it led to the cross where He wrought out deliverance for the captives of Satan. That day found Him back with His own people in the synagogue in His home town.

I. Prophecy Fulfilled (vv. 16-22).

It is significant and appropriate that Jesus' declaration of Himself as the fulfillment of Isaiah 61:1, 2 was made in the synagogue on the Sabbath day. He met with the people in the house and at the time set apart for God's worship. He opposed spiritual deadness, the misinterpretation of the truth, the distortion of religious principles; but He was not, as some would have us believe, a religious free lance who despised the established worship of His people.

Having been prepared by the years of silence, and more particularly by the baptism and the temptation in the wilderness, He appeared at the synagogue in Nazareth to declare Himself as the fulfillment of prophecy.

Those who teach that Jesus was only a young Jewish teacher with a new philosophy of life have evidently not read the Scriptures. He knew Himself to be God's Son come into the world to bring the good news of salvation by His own blood to poor, sin-captive, blinded and bruised humanity. He is the Savior!

Look at Isaiah 61:1, 2 and note that Jesus stopped reading before the end of the sentence. "The day of vengeance of our God" will come when Christ returns. This is the day of grace. Sinners are urged to accept God's love now, and thus to escape the terrible day of judgment.

II. Faith Recognized (vv. 23-27).

The Jews gloried in the fact that they were the chosen people of God and insisted it was through the exercises of their formal worship that God's blessing must be received. Now this one whom they erroneously call "Joseph's son" (v. 22) comes to disturb them in their self-satisfaction. Seeing their rising resentment, He declares by striking words and example that the benefits and blessings of God come through faith and not because of any racial relationship.

The glory of Christianity is that its grace and power are to be received by faith and are fully and freely available to the simplest and poorest of men. Race, position, wealth, education, have nothing to do with it. All too often they are a hindrance, although they ought rather to be a help.

Every reader of these notes, regardless of age, education, wealth or any other condition or circumstance of life, stands on an equal footing before God and has a full and unlimited opportunity to take right now, by faith in Christ, all that God has for him—salvation, spiritual strength and usefulness, joy, peace, and all the other blessings of God. Will you do it?

III. Truth Rejected (vv. 28-30).
Like a torch cast into gunpowder, His words set off all the explosive power of narrow bigotry, national pride, jealousy, and they were all "filled with wrath" (v. 28).

They rejected not only the truth of His words, but they rejected Him who is the Truth (John 14:6). Note it carefully—in rejecting or neglecting His Word, you reject and neglect Him.

Observe that until the time had come for Him to be "delivered" (Rom. 4:25) into the hands of wicked men to be crucified they could not touch Him. There is no more majestic scene than that in verse 30 where the Son of God turned at the brow of the hill and, walking through the midst of the crowd, went His way.

What have I to fear at the hands of wicked and gainsaying men as long as I follow this all-powerful Son of God? He that is for us and in us is greater than he (the devil) that is in the world (1 John 4:4). We follow the victorious Christ, who quietly but majestically walks through the ranks of His helpless enemies and goes "His way." Will you join us—today?

Be Temperate

Woe to them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them.—Isa. 5:11.

Mrs. Mattie Smith visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bowers of Pine Grove. She returned to her home on Tuckasee Sunday.

Deputy John Dills Finds Whiskey Cache; No Still

John Dills, deputy sheriff of Macon county and Luther Rickman, of Rabun county, Ga., destroyed 500 gallons of beer and 25 gallons of whiskey on Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

After an all-day search in the Moccasin section between Highlands and North Carolina-Georgia state line the beer and whiskey were located, but the still had been removed prior to the raid. No arrests were made.

The cost of operating county homes in North Carolina has declined more than a quarter million dollars since the public assistance program went into effect in 1937.

Mrs. Mack Franks Opens Sewing Center

Mrs. Mack Franks has announced that a sewing center for Franklin and Macon county is to be opened on November 1 under her supervision. Mrs. Franks will be assisted at the opening by Mrs. Grace Bolling of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Franks spent three days last week in Asheville learning the latest steps in the sewing craft, and is prepared to teach anyone interested in a series of free lessons that are being offered. Children's clothing, dressmaking, home decoration are some of the branches that will be taught. There will also be offered the services of a junior sewing club to girls between the ages of 12 and 15.

The public is cordially invited to visit the sewing center located in the McCoy building on and after the opening day.

They Cheated Nazi Bombs

These English refugee children escaped death twice at the hands of Nazis before reaching haven in New York, where they could have their tea and read in peace without scrambling for bomb shelters.

Those shown above, ranging in age from four to fifteen, are among the group quartered temporarily at the Seamen's Church Institute of New York by Marshall Field's U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children.

They are part of the last contingent of 106 child evacuees removed from Britain more than three weeks ago. While waiting to be claimed by foster parents, who will keep them for the duration of the war, they found the first peace and quiet they had known since death began falling from the sky over England.

At the Institute, daily schedules of sightseeing trips and games keep their minds from dwelling too long on loved ones "holding the fort" at home. And best of all, between 3 and 4 o'clock they can have their daily pickup of tea after play without having to keep a weather ear open for air-raid sirens.

During their journey, the train on which they traveled from London to Glasgow was bombed but not hit. Their ship, the Empress of Australia, traveled in the same convoy as the City of Benares, torpedoed recently with the loss of scores of lives.
