Macon Farm And Home Tour Enjoyed By More Than 500

Many Model Farms And Homes Visited
Wednesday

On Wednesday, August 13 more than 500 farmers, business men and others of Macon county took a day off to go on the 12th annual Farm and Home Tour to admire their neighbor's handiwork. As a tribute to the growing interest in this yearly event this was the largest attendance record set by any Macon county tour.

In about 64 cars and trucks furnished by local citizens and business firms the tour left the Agriculture building at 10.30 a. m., with state highway patrolman Ed Guy and Sam Mendenhall, Macon county agent, leading the way. The first stop was in the Patton settlement where a fine herd of Black Angus cattle, belonging to Paul Patton, Unit Demonstration farmer, and a large herd of Angora goats which Fred Hannah has recently brought into the county were inspected. The next point of interest was a ride through A. B. Slagle's Unit Demonstration Dairy farm. Of special interest here was a large field covered with a splendid stand of soybeans and sudan grass.

Model Homes And Farms
To show the efficient methods of living taught by our agriculture leaders, an attractive modern home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dalrymple was next shown.

From here the tour proceeded to the Unit Demonstration farm owned by Charlie Enloe, where they found a well balanced farming system composed of hay, grain, pasture and truck crops. Here Mr. Enloe has taken a hillside too steep for cultivation and by sowing it in lespedeza, red clover, and pasture grasses has made a profitable pasture.

After a trip through the Unit Demonstration farm owned by Carl Slagle where an excellent pasture has been developed by the use of lime, triple superphosphate, and pasture grass and a refrosting program were points of special interest, the ladies of the Cartoogechaye Methodist and Baptist churches served an excellent "country dinner" for the large crowd that had gathered at Arrowood Glade.

Dr. Staub Speaks
Dr. I. O. Staub, director of the Extension Service, and Dean of Agriculture college at North Carolina State college made a short talk in which he stated, "that the world today was in a devil of a fix—that regardless of the outcome of the present war that farm people must prepare themselves to live in a world which will be far different than the one they now know."

Following the dinner the tour proceeded to the Bert Slagle dairy farm where the Macon county stock show was held under the direction of E. J. Whitmire.

Mr. Mendenhall expressed appreciation for the aid given by the Bank of Franklin and the Rotary and Lions Clubs in sponsoring the tour and to the many people who furnished transportation, and also for those who cooperated in furnishing animals for exhibit. He stated that without their cooperation the farm tour would not have been possible.

There were many out-of-town guests who took part in the program, including R. W. Shoffner, farm management director; W. D. Lee, extension service agent; F. S. Sloan, district agent, and county agents from neighboring counties.

"Big Dan" Reynolds pitched excellent ball in the first game, striking out ten men and deserved to win, but "Tiny" Swafford, Isabella's first baseman got hold of one of his fast balls for a home-run in the ninth with a man on to tie the game at 3-3. Isabella scored in the tenth with an error and two hits. In the second game, "Fast Ball" Holsanback struck out 11 men and set the Copper Basin boys down with four bingles.

Announcement Of Parley Made In Three Capitals Simultaneously

Joint announcement was made today in London, Washington and Ottawa, Canada that President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill had met on "the calm blue sea" of the Atlantic for the weekend. A joint U. S.-British 8-point declaration of peace aims was the result of their conferences. Their exact meeting place was not disclosed.

The announcement confirmed rumors that the meeting was taking place, but the whereabouts and movements of the two leaders of the world's democracy have been shrouded in secrecy during the past week.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill were accompanied by their ranking military, naval and air advisors, it was stated. Lord Beaverbrook was one of the number, and it is announced that he will proceed to Washington for further talks on war aid to Britain and Russia.

The historic meeting resulted in a joint declaration of policy embodying eight separate points, including the disarmament of the Axis powers after the war. The two leaders joined in a pledge to achieve "final destruction of Nazi tyranny."

Following are the eight points upon which the president and prime minister pin their hopes for a "better future for the world."

Eight Point Program For Peace

1. That the countries seek no "aggrandizement, territorial or other."

2. "They desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned."

3. "They respect the rights of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live" and wish to see restoration of "sovereign rights and self-government" to those "forcibly deprived of them."

4. They will endeavor to further the "enjoyment" of the trade and raw materials of the world by all states "great or small, victor or vanquished."

5. "They desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations" on the economic front, to secure for all "improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security."

6. After "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny" the two countries hope to see a peace which will assure to all nations the "means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries."

7. That such a peace should assure "without hindrance" to all men.

8. That all nations must come to abandonment of the use of force and that since no future peace can be maintained unless aggressor nations are disarmed "the disarmament of such nations is essential."

The declaration of aims bore the signatures of Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill.

So far as is known, Mr. Roosevelt is still at sea somewhere off the New England coast. For more than a week the world has speculated as to whether Roosevelt and Churchill really were meeting. It is even conjectured that a "leak" permitting such speculation was intentional—sufficient to act as a red light to Japan, particularly.
