PAGE FOUR

VOL. LVI

THE FRANKLIN PRESS AND THE HIGHLANDS MACONIA	THE	FRANKLIN	PRESS	AND TH	E HIGHLANDS	MACONIAN
--	-----	----------	-------	--------	-------------	----------

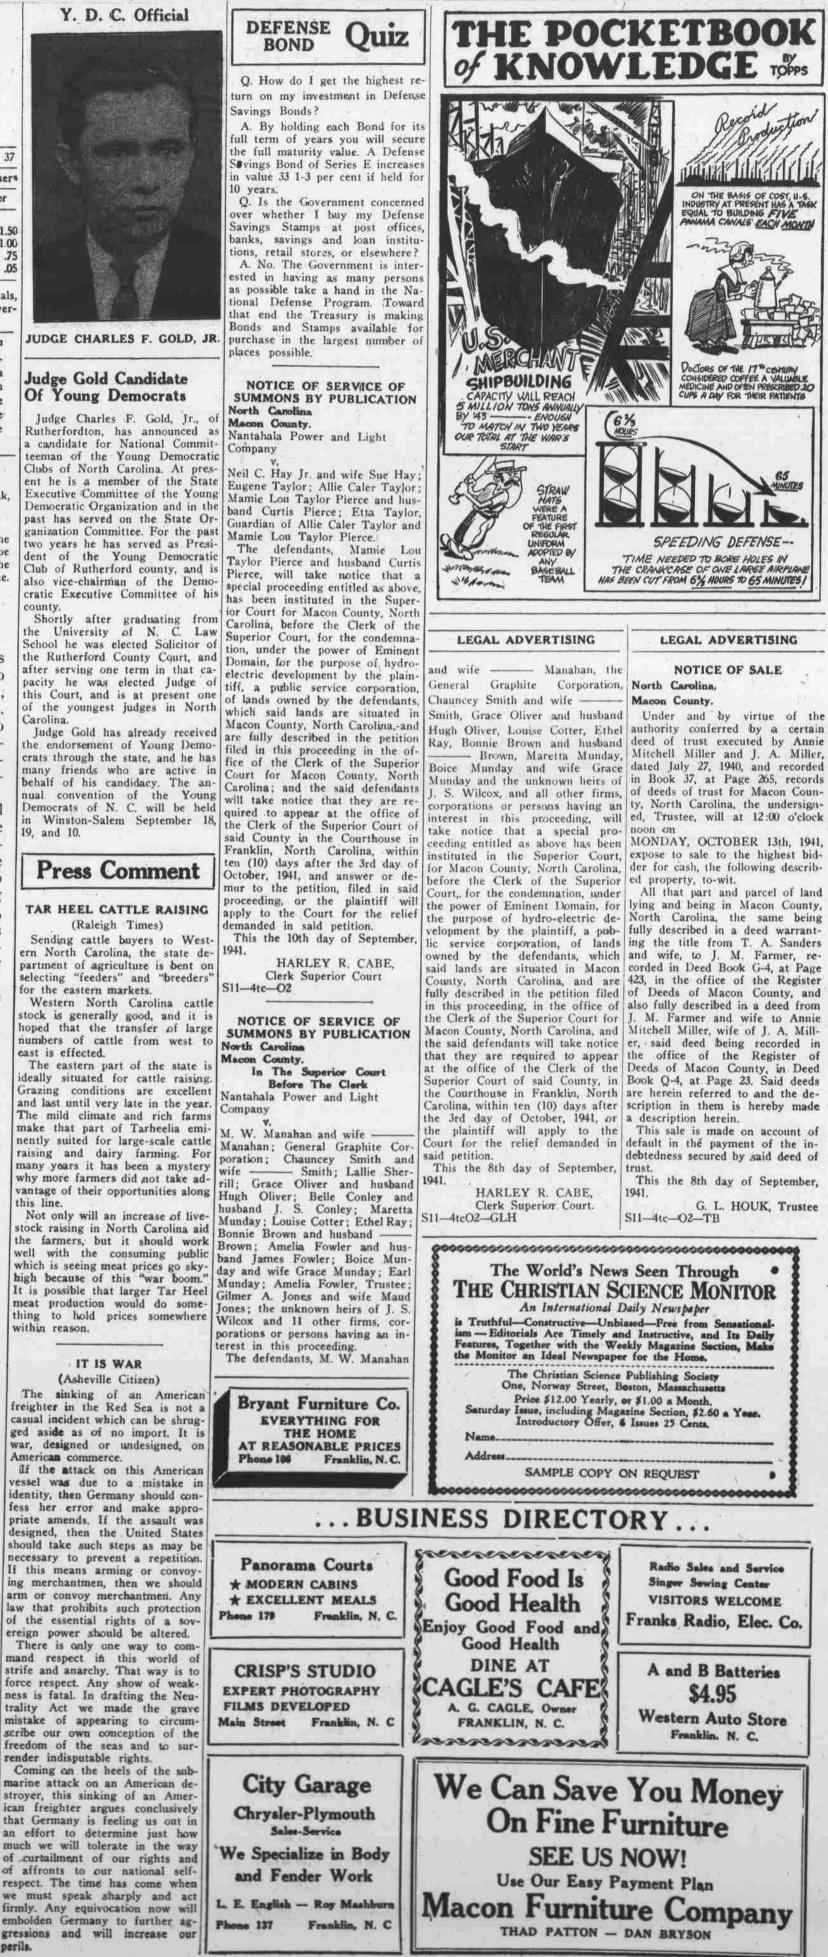

THURSDAY, SEPT. 11, 1941

FOUR	THE FRANKLIN PRESS AN	D THE HIGHLAND
The Hranklin Press and The Highlands Maconian Published every Thursday by The Franklin Press At Franklin, North Carolina Telephone No. 24	Y. D. C. Official	Q. How do I get turn on my investo Savings Bonds? A. By holding eas full term of years the full maturity y
VI , Number 37		Sovings Bond of Se
W. C. Johnson and W. S. JohnsonPublishers		in value 33 1-3 per ed at the Post Office, Franklin, N. C., as second class matter		Q. Is the Govern
SUBSCRIPTION RATES fonths		over whether I be Savings Stamps a banks, savings an tions, retail stores, A. No. The Gove ested in having as
ary notices, cards of thanks, tributes of respect, by individuals, churches, organizations or societies, will be regarded as adver- nd inserted at regular classified advertising rates.		as possible take a tional Defense Pr that end the Trea Bonds and Stamp s newspaper invites its readers to express their opinions on rs of public interest through its columns. The Press- nian is independent in its policies and is glad to print both of any question. Letters to the editor should be written y on only one side of the paper and should be of reasonable the editor reserves the right to reject letters which are ong, are of small general interest or which would violate ensibilities of our readers.	JUDGE CHARLES F. GOLD, JR. Judge Gold Candidate Of Young Democrats Judge Charles F. Gold, Jr., of Rutherfordton, has announced as a candidate for National Commit-	NOTICE OF SI SUMMONS BY P North Canolina Macon County
BIBLE THOUGHT then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, t to please ourselves.—Romans 15:1. * suffering of the individual must be looked on and felt as the ing of the whole. The failure and sin of everyone must be on and and felt as the failure and sin of the whole. The of anyone must be felt as a biting hunger by everyone. —E. Stanley Jones Good Work Of Chamber Of Commerce	teeman of the Young Democratic Clubs of North Carolina. At pres- ent he is a member of the State Executive Committee of the Young Democratic Organization and in the past has served on the State Or- ganization Committee. For the past two years he has served as Presi- dent of the Young Democratic Club of Rutherford county, and is also vice-chairman of the Demo- cratic Executive Committee of his county. Shortly after graduating from the University of N. C. Law School he was elected Solicitor of	Neil C. Hay Jr. and Eugene Taylor; Alli Mamie Lou Taylor band Curtis Pierce Guardian of Allie C Mamie Lou Taylor The defendants, Taylor Pierce and Pierce, will take special proceeding en has been instituted ior Court for Macon Carolina, before the HEN more than a million people come to this section of the North Carolina mountains to the Great Smoky Mountains National park, y day has dawned for this entire resort area. of those who come from a distance, wish to from one to four weeks, exploring the by- and the beautiful country that lie conven- within the radius of the well traevled high- inklin has received a fair share of this travel beason, as is evidenced by the report of the ber of Commerce information booth. Few vis- come who are not either on their way to the	the Rutherford County Court, and after serving one term in that ca- pacity he was elected Judge of this Court, and is at present one of the youngest judges in North Carolina. Judge Gold has already received the endorsement of Young Demo- crats through the state, and he has many friends who are active in behalf of his candidacy. The an- nual convention of the Young Democrats of N. C. will be held in Winston-Salem September 18, 19, and 10.	Domain, for the pow Domain, for the pur electric development tiff, a public servi of lands owned by which said lands a Macon County, Nort are fully described filed in this proceed filed filed in the set will take notice that guired to appear at the Clerk of the Su said County in the Franklin, North C ten (10) days after ies or who do not make a day's excursion to	Press Comment	October, 1941, and man's Dome a feature of their visit. During st most of the hotels and inns have been filled, nany times all accommodations have been	TAR HEEL CATTLE RAISING (Raleigh Times) Sending cattle buyers to West-	mur to the petition proceeding, or the apply to the Court demanded in said p This the 10th day

Sending cattle buyers to Western North Carolina, the state department of agriculture is bent on selecting "feeders" and "breeders" for the eastern markets.

Western North Carolina cattle stock is generally good, and it is hoped that the transfer of large numbers of cattle from west to east is effected.

The eastern part of the state is ideally situated for cattle raising. Grazing conditions are excellent

All that part and parcel of land lying and being in Macon County,

Mrs. J. W. C. Johnson and W. S. Johnson Entered at the Post Office, Franklin, N. SUBSCRIPTION R One Year ..... Eight Months ..... Six Months ..... Single Copy ..... Obituary notices, cards of thanks, tribut lodges, churches, organizations or societies, tising and inserted at regular classified a

This newspaper invites its readers to matters of public interest through Maconian is independent in its policies sides of any question. Letters to the legibly on only one side of the paper an length. The editor reserves the right t too long, are of small general interest the sensibilities of our readers.

BIBLE THOUGH

We then that are strong ought to bear and not to please ourselves .-- Romans 15 * * *

The suffering of the individual must be suffering of the whole. The failure and looked on and and felt as the failure : hunger of anyone must be felt as a

Good Work Of Chamber

WHEN more than a million section of the North Car visit the Great Smoky Mount a new day has dawned for thi Most of those who come from tarry from one to four weeks ways and the beautiful count iently within the radius of the ways.

Franklin has received a fair this season, as is evidenced by Chamber of Commerce information itors come who are not either Smokies or who do not make a Clingman's Dome a feature of August most of the hotels and in and many times all accommo taxed to the limit. Altogether, this has been a season to encourage preparations for an increasing number each year.

The unprecedented number of guests that have come and sought information has emphasized the fact that a Chamber of Commerce is not only helpful but indispensable. The progressive citizens who have given leadership and work, and the many who have contributed to make this help to tourists possible, have every reason to be reassured that their efforts have been well worth while. Not only those who were contributors but everybody has profited. This is as it should be. Those who believe in their town and are willing to express their community spirit in a practical way are leading the way for a larger cooperation of citizens. Franklin is grateful to those officers and members who have helped to establish a live, going Chamber of Commerce for Franklin this year. What has been done is only a beginning. President Woodruff, at a recent meeting of the Rotary and Lions Clubs with the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, listed new projects that should be undertaken for the immediate future, for which a larger membership must be sought. Some of the more important needs are:

Advertising to attract visitors during the Fall months.

A Western Union Telegraph office.

Seeking to interest outside industries in sites in and near Franklin.

Ten thousand folders for wide distribution. Several new signs in key positions on highways.

The President's Mother

THE life of Sarah Delano Roosevelt spanned a remarkable era of the nation's history and represented some of its first traditions. Her interests were wide and varied, but the center of her devotion was her only son. Widowed in his early childhood, her influence guided and molded the character of the man who now wields so great an influence for the welfare of the world .

Mother and son were always close to each other in an unusually beautiful relationship. This devoted Christian woman whose life was an example to her son and to all who came in contact with her vigirous personality, spent her life in the service of others. Born to wealth and privilege, she chose a life of heavy responsibilities for a woman of her time. She was equally at home in the formal courts of Europe and the humble homes of many who were her friends.

Grace and vigor were hers to the end of her eighty-seven years. She was laid to rest near the altar of the little church where she worshipped with her son beside her.

A nation should be grateful to the noble mother who rooted her son's life in the eternal verities.

and last until very late in the year The mild climate and rich farms make that part of Tarheelia eminently suited for large-scale cattle raising and dairy farming. For many years it has been a mystery why more farmers did not take advantage of their opportunities along this line.

Not only will an increase of livestock raising in North Carolina aid the farmers, but it should work well with the consuming public which is seeing meat prices go skyhigh because of this "war boom." It is possible that larger Tar Heel meat production would do something to hold prices somewhere within reason.

IT IS WAR (Asheville Citizen)

The sinking of an American freighter in the Red Sea is not a casual incident which can be shrugged aside as of no import. It is war, designed or undesigned, on American commerce.

If the attack on this American vessel was due to a mistake in identity, then Germany should confess her error and make appropriate amends. If the assault was designed, then the United States should take such steps as may be necessary to prevent a repetition. If this means arming or convoying merchantmen, then we should arm or convoy merchantmen. Any law that prohibits such protection of the essential rights of a sovereign power should be altered. There is only one way to command respect in this world of strife and anarchy. That way is to force respect. Any show of weakness is fatal. In drafting the Neutrality Act we made the grave mistake of appearing to circumscribe our own conception of the freedom of the seas and to surrender indisputable rights. Coming on the heels of the submarine attack on an American destroyer, this sinking of an American freighter argues conclusively that Germany is feeling us out in an effort to determine just how much we will tolerate in the way of curtailment of our rights and of affronts to our national selfrespect. The time has come when we must speak sharply and act firmly. Any equivocation now will perils.