Highway Transportation Survey To Be Made

All farmers and others who own trucks are to be asked to help the War Department in its transportation planning for national defense, reports John W. Goodman, assistant director of the State college extension service. M. L. Wilson, director of Extension work for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has asked the cooperation of all State Extension Services in the survey to be made.

Each truck owner will receive in the next few days a special National Defense inventory card, Goodman explained. He will be requested to return the card (postage free) with information regarding the make of his truck, kind of body, capacity, time of the year the vehicle is most urgently needed in the owner's business, and whether in an emergency he would be willing to hire or lease it to a Government agency.

The purpose in collecting these records, Goodman said, is more effective planning of highway transportation in the assembly of defense-industry materials, delivery of military and civilian supplies, relief of dock and terminal congestion, and movement of passenger traffic in emergencies.

"England was forced, in the midst of the war, to make an inventory similar to the one the United States is now about to begin," the Extension leader declared, and he added: "I am sure the farmers of North Carolina will cooperate in this survey since it seems vital to the preparedness of our country for any wartime emergency that might arise."

The North Carolina Highway Traffic Advisory Committee of the War Department will send out the inventory cards. A similar survey will be made of buses.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. What is the minimum size of U. S. No. 1 potatoes?

A. The answer to this question, as given by H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist of N. C. State college, is: The diameter of a U. S. No. 1 Irish potato shall be not less than 1 7/8 inches, and the diameter of a U. S. No. 1 sweet potato shall be not less than 1 3/4 inches. Also, a sweet potato must not be more than 10 inches in length to meet the No. 1 grade requirement.

Q. What varieties of small grain show resistance to smut diseases?

A. Through demonstrations conducted by North Carolina farmers, in cooperation with their county agents, it has been found that Leaps 157 wheat; Victorgrain, Stanton, Fullgrain 4, and Leotora oats; and Iredell and Bearded 15 varieties of barley, are at least partially resistant to smut. Howard R. Garriss, extension plant pathologist, says the 5 per cent ethylmercury phosphate (New Improved Ceresan) is effective in controlling bunt and smut of wheat, and loose smut of oats.

Q. What is the best equipment for harvesting lespedeza seed under present conditions in North Carolina?

A. Much of the lespedeza in the state this year made only fair growth because of abnormal weather conditions. Prof. G. W. Giles of the State college agricultural Engineering department, says the simple, inexpensive seed pan attached to a mowing machine will do a good job under present conditions. He recommends that the low cut bar, commonly called a "lespedeza bar," be used. It will cut the stalks close to the ground, and since the cutting action is rapid, the plants will not be disturbed very much, thereby eliminating some of the shattering of the dry seed pods.

Uncle Sam To Visit Every Farmer In State

The man with the stove-pipe hat and the white whiskers—known to Americans as "Uncle Sam"—will visit every farmer in North Carolina between now and about December 1. He will drop around to ask each farmer how much food and feed he can, and will, produce to help "Win the War and Write the Peace."

All of which means, according to Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the N. C. State college extension service, that the "Food for Freedom" campaign, recently started on a Nation-wide basis, is aggressively under way in North Carolina. Every farm family will be asked to participate, and to increase production in 1941 to help feed defense forces at home and abroad.

Dean Schaub explained that "Uncle Sam" will be represented on the tour of farm visits by AAA committeemen—other farmers who probably will wear overalls and straw hats in many instances, instead of the red, white and blue costume of the legendary National hero.

The details of the house-to-house canvas, by means of which the food and feed production drive will be conducted, are being worked out at regional, county and community meetings of agricultural and rural welfare leaders. The Triple-A committeemen, who are the elected leaders of the farmers, will obtain the pledges necessary to meet the county goals of more food and feed next year.

Regional educational and training meetings are scheduled Monday, October 20, at Elizabeth City, Clinton, Raleigh, Lexington, and Waynesville, and on Tuesday, October 21, at New Bern, Henderson, Rockingham, Shelby and Wilkesboro. County and community meetings will follow as soon thereafter as they can be arranged.

Interventionist Leader

The Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, national chairman of the Fight for Freedom League, and decorated AEF major, asserted that "no loyal American can longer oppose the call of the President to defend our freedom," following Mr. Roosevelt's call for unrestricted naval warfare upon the Nazis. Bishop Hobson, of the Protestant-Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, twice wounded and once gassed in World War I, also told interviewers that "isolationists and appeasers are not only blind to the facts, but constitute a real menace to our national safety."
