Ensign Wayne Morris Seeks Wings

Wayne Morris, recent star of "I Wanted Wings," became a member of Uncle Sam's Navy in May 1941, when he was appointed to the rank of Ensign.

When asked what he thought of the United States Navy, Morris said, "I think every man who is considering joining a military service should look into the 'chance of a lifetime' which the Navy and Naval Reserve offer to get into the big-pay field of the future—aviation. In the Navy you can attend the finest flight training schools in the world, and receive instruction from Navy pilots who introduced dive bombing, aircraft carriers and catapult take-offs to the rest of the world. Also, there are opportunities in Naval Aviation for men who don't want to fly. They can be trained as aviation machinists, metalsmiths, photographers, observers, or they can receive instruction in many other trades. It's a great life in the Navy."

To Remain Healthy Never Trust A Bull

Don't trust any bull, and especially a "tame bull," Dr. C. D. Grinnells, veterinarian of the N. C. State college, is warning North Carolina farmers.

Recent reports of injuries sustained by farmers who were turned on by supposedly gentle animals caused Dr. Grinnells to issue his warning.

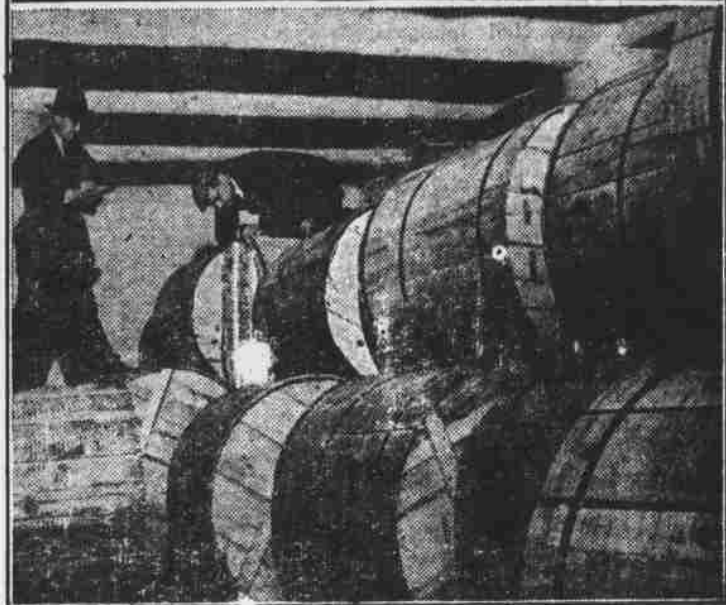

All bulls are dangerous, especially dairy bulls which are quicker on their feet than those of the beef breed. A "tame" bull standing nearby may turn on his master in a flash and gore him.

Farmers and others have a tendency to be cautious around a strange bull or one that is obviously dangerous, but they often make a mistake of considering a so-called "tame" bull a docile, gentle animal.

Thus they expose themselves to the "tame" bull and possible danger while avoiding the obviously dangerous animal, Dr. Grinnells pointed out.

In handling these herd sires, Dr. Grinnells gives the following advice to farmers: Keep the bull in a strong pen. If he has to be moved, use a bull staff through the ring in his nose to lead him. Don't allow him to run with the cows, as this necessitates separating him from the herd twice daily—a difficult and highly dangerous operation at times. Never go into a bull pen with a weapon of some sort that will prevent the animals from attacking.

Stockpiles of Food for Peace

Here is what the U. S. Department of Agriculture means when it urges farmers to help produce "stockpiles of food for use after the war." The upper picture shows barrels of dried milk, just as good a year from now as today. The lower picture shows a warehouse filled with huge drums of cheese, even better with aging. These farm products, plus condensed milk, dried milk, cured pork, and canned meat and vegetables, constitute the stockpiles of defense food which, says Secretary Claude R. Wickard, will be needed by hungry Europe and "will exert the maximum influence at the peace conference table."

Cows Help Increase Total Farm Income

The farmer who keeps five to ten cows and pays strict attention to their feeding, breeding, and management knows the meaning of balanced farming and permanent security, according to Fred M. Haig, professor of animal husbandry and dairying at N. C. State college.

Within less than 50 years, the production and utilization of milk have so increased that today the United States is the greatest of the dairy nations. Around 25,000,000 cows are milked daily on three-quarters of the country's 6,000,000 farms.

On thousands of these farms, he pointed out, sufficient feed for five to ten cows could be raised without interfering with the production of the regular cash crops.

He also explained that the dairy industry is closely related to the maintenance of soil fertility, and the farmer must consider this an indirect profit. In other words, the livestock farmer gives back much of what he takes from the land. Then, too, he anchors the soil. Valuable top soil does not wash or blow off in dust from hillsides where grass is green and cattle graze.

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM OPENED SEASON NOV. 11

On November 11 the Highlands high school basketball team played the Rabun Gap high team in the opening game of the season, which was also the first game of their career for four of the Highlands first team boys. The Highlands team was defeated but enjoyed the game and gained much valuable experience from it. On Wednesday night the Otter Creek high school came to town and walked away with a close decision.

Following is the line-up for the two games for Highlands: Malcolm Zoellner, Roy (Rip) McDowell, Barak (Honey) Wright, J. C. Hicks, Wayne (Wizz) Hicks, Herbert (Scratch) Paul, "Bud" Potts and "Bud" Thompson. Wright and McDowell starred for Highlands while J. C. Hicks showed the most improvement of any boy on the team.

DAUGHTER OF ORIGINAL SETTLER PAYS VISIT HERE

Miss Alice Hutchison, daughter of Clinton C. Hutchinson, one of the original settlers of Highlands, was a visitor here Sunday. Miss Hutchison was en route to her home in Portland, Ore., after a visit with her brother, Arthur Herbert Hutchinson, in Atlanta.

She was very much elated over the grandeur of our mountain scenery, and recalled the fact that it was her father who built what is now the Fransworth home on East Main street.

Accompanying Miss Hutchison on her trip here Sunday was her niece, Mrs. Ruth H. Rooban, of Atlanta.

MRS. JOHN C. BLANCHARD ENTERTAINS CARD CLUB

Mrs. John C. Blanchard was hostess to the Wednesday Card Club last week at "Snug Harbor" her home on Blanchard Court. Vases of bittersweet and English Ivy added to the charm of the living room where the three-table game was played.

Mrs. Frank B. Cook won high score prize and Mrs. Elliot Caziarc the traveling prize. The traveling guest prize was awarded to Mrs. Lukens of Philadelphia.

After the game Mrs. Blanchard was assisted in serving a salad and a sweet course by Mrs. J. E. Root, who also assisted in entertaining.
