WHITE COON FROM S. C. SLATED FOR MUSEUM

A white coon caught by Bill Neely and Sam Baty on their hunting trip to Beaufort, S. C., has been the source of considerable comment in town, since it is the first white coon sportsmen here have ever seen. Rumor has it that the pelt or skin is to be given to the Highlands Museum, and several people have expressed hope that this rumor may become a reality, and that the Museum may have the skin to display along with the golden eagle and northern raven, two very rare specimens already at the museum.

Auxiliary

Davis was re-elected treasurer. At this meeting the following resolutions in the death of Miss Durgin were adopted by the auxiliary.

"Whereas, God in His great wisdom has removed from our midst our friend and co-worker, Miss Bernice Durgin:

"Be it resolved that we bow ourselves in humble submission to His judgment in so doing; and be it further resolved that in the death of Miss Durgin we have lost a valued and valuable member of the church and auxiliary and a useful citizen of the town, and that we express to her family our deep regret at her passing.

"Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be entered on the minutes of the Woman's Auxiliary, that a copy be sent to her sister, Mrs. Fred E. Carter, and that a copy be published in the Franklin Press."

The resolutions were drawn by a committee composed of Mrs. A. C. Holt, Mrs. J. A. Hines and Mrs. H. G. Story.

Even horses don't understand English in Iceland, according to U. S. Marines stationed there. Queer Icelandic customs, together with autos and carts being driven on the left side of the streets are confusing. Leathernecks report.

Postmaster Potts

Asks Attention To Rules For Holiday Mailing

Postmaster C. C. Potts advises that compliance with the following suggestions will greatly aid the postoffice and insure the prompt handling of Christmas mail.

Christmas presents, cards and letters should be mailed at least a week or ten days before Christmas. One of the most important "musts" in wrapping and packing Christmas parcels is the use of strong paper and heavy twine.

Listed under the articles requiring special packing are umbrellas, be reinforced their full length by canes and golf sticks, which should strong strips of wood and tightly wrapped. Hats and shoes should be packed in solid fiberboard or double-faced corrugated fibre-board boxes. Ordinary pasteboard hat boxes must be crated. Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Books must have edges well protected with stiff material and packed in wooden or strong fiberboard box. Candies should be enclosed in strong outside containers.

Fragile Articles

In packing fragile articles use liberal quantities of excelsior or like material, in, around and between the articles and outside container. Glassware, crockery or fragile toys must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit. Boxes of cigars must be wrapped in corrugated pasteboard and packed in a manner to prevent damage by shock or jar.

Addresses Must Be Plain

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked "Fragile."

Be sure that addresses are complete and plainly written. A return address should be placed in the upper lefthand corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used the address and return address should also be written on the wrapper for use if the tag is lost, and a copy if the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. Postage must be fully prepared on all mail.

No parcel may be more than 100 inches in length and girth combined nor exceed 70 pounds in weight. Perishable articles should be so marked and packed in suitable containers.

Regular airmail envelopes are preferred for airmail. If plain envelopes with the proper amount of postage are used they must be conspicuously endorsed near the address "Via Air Mail" or "Special Delivery-Air Mail" as the case may be. The fact that they bear air mail or special delivery stamps is not sufficient. Air mail may be registered, insured or sent C. O. D.

Special Delivery stamps should be used for special delivery mail, but if ordinary stamps in the proper amount are used, the words "Special Delivery" must be written or printed on the envelope or wrapper immediately below but never on the stamps. Special delivery means immediate delivery and is for speed and not for safety.

1st, 2nd, 4th Class

Written matter in the nature of correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels. A letter placed in an envelope addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and
