Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it. The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry.—Psalm 34; 14, 15.

Peace cannot come until there is justice between nations, and between individuals, for that matter. Permanent peace is not only an ideal; it must be an achievement of civilized society. It ought to be worked for, even while prayed for.

There is a legal maxim that he who comes into a court of equity must come with clean hands. It is a kind of blasphemy to ask for peace unless we make every effort to put hatred and greed out of the world.—Selected.

By Sam. W. Mendenhall

THERE has been much said about what we as a rural people can do to help win the war that has been forced on us by unscrupulous gangsters. Even with all that has been said and even after there has been a ship sunk off the coast of North Carolina and daily reports of gains that are being made by our enemies, there are still those among us who take it all very lightly, think in terms of themselves only and remark that an effort is being made to unduly alarm our people.

Things that can be done are commonplace and would seem of little importance to some, but it is hoped that every one will realize the importance of an adequate garden, better poultry and plenty of milk and butter.

An effort is being made to secure a whole milk market. A canvass is being made now to determine the number of cows in the county from which milk can be sold. Farmers have asked for this market. It will depend entirely on the farmer as to whether the market is secured or not. In order to get anything of value for our country, it will be necessary for us to forget what personal whims or grudges that we may have and all work together for a common interest. A whole milk market for Macon County could be of untold value to both farmers and business men. Our country has asked for an increase in dairy products, let's get together and produce it.

MR. and Mrs. Ben W. Woodruff will be missed in Franklin. After four years as head of the Western Carolina Telephone Company operating in this section of western North Carolina, and in northern Georgia, Mr. Woodruff has accepted a position with the Bell Telephone Company in Charlotte.

This gifted young couple entered whole heartedly into the town's life and activities during their residence here. They have given of their time and abilities generously to every good cause, freely responding to the many demands for their services in civic, church and social interests, especially with their musical talent. Franklin is a better place for their having lived among us, and the affection as well as good wishes of many friends go with them to their new home.

WORK will soon begin on the huge Fontana dam which will harness the waters of the Little Tennessee river just across the border in Swain county. The Tennessee Valley Authority headquarters in Knoxville, Tenn., is teeming with activity in connection with the initial preparations necessary to get the machinery running to build a fifty million dollar dam that will be the highest in Eastern America.

A Knoxville official told a Franklin citizen last week that this project will bring an increase of population to this section of 16,000, and that it is estimated that employees will probably find homes within a radius of as much as seventy-five miles. He further stated that a trailer village and commissary would be the only provisions made for workers near the site.

On Tuesday night the Franklin chamber of commerce held a meeting to consider the matter of transportation of Macon County workers and housing facilities that Franklin is prepared to offer to employees and their families. The distance is slightly over sixty miles from Franklin to the dam, over a paved road, and the people of Franklin wish to offer their facilities and convenient transportation to people coming in from a distance.

It is hoped that those who have living accommodations to rent will report to the chamber of commerce committee at once so that they may be referred to TVA authorities.

North Carolina's 60,000 4-H Club members are ready to embark on a seven-point Victory program, according to L. R. Harrill, 4-H club leader of the N. C. State College Extension Service.

The basis for the program was laid down in a discussion of civilian defense at a recent conference in Washington between 4-H Club leaders and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The program calls for: (1) interpreting to the community the four freedoms: Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Worship, Freedom from Want, and Freedom from Fear; (2) making every effort to produce and conserve needed foods in 4-H Club projects; (3) saving for victory—prevention of waste, collecting scrap metals, burlap, old paper, etc.

(4) Developing individual and community health; (5) learning useful technical and mechanical skills and volunteering for civilian defense work; (6) practicing the democratic procedure; and (7) understanding the social and economic forces at work in this country through discussion groups and other organized activities.

Harrill explained that the seven-point program is a wartime revision of a program which North Carolina club members and their local leaders have been carrying forward for the past year and a half.

In commenting on the program, Mrs. Roosevelt put in a strong plea for activities which develop a better understanding of democracy and produce better health and nutrition among young people.

Charles Henry Norton, 60, died suddenly at his home, in the Otto section last Friday night, January 16. He was apparently in good health, having worked as usual all day. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

Funeral services were conducted on Saturday afternoon at the Asbury Methodist church at Otto, with the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Swain officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Norton was born on November 19, 1881, and was the son of the late M. H. and Rachel Dryman Norton. He had lived all his
