Forest Fire

Prevention Up To Forest Users

(Wayah Ranger District, Nantahala National Forest)

During the present emergency it will be the responsibility of the people living in and near the Nantahala National Forest to prevent and suppress forest fires that are threatening U. S. land.

The personnel of the CCC camps has been so badly depleted by boys going into the army, securing private employment, etc., that it will not be long before enrollees can not be depended upon to fight forest fires. When this takes place it will be up to the forest users to aid in detection, prevention and suppression of forest fires.

We are coming back to the old days—when the Ranger, Supervisor and staff and forest users fought all forest fires. With 67 timber sales going on the Wayah District—mostly Chestnut acidwood sales—(which are in the National Defense Program), it will take most of the rangers and assistants' time in handling these sales. All the time used in fighting fires will be that much less for making new timber sales and administering gain sales.

These forest users are as follows:

1. Free Use Permittees, (those who have received free firewood, apples, blackberries, stone, etc.), about 600 people.

2. Timber Sales Operators of National Forest Timber—(67 people and about 300 workers).

3. Special Use Permittees, includes mining permittees, cultivation permittees, spring permittees, right of way permittees. About 50 people in this classification.

The following timber sale operators have going sales: (Each operator is equipped with 3 council rakes, 1 double bit axe, 1 water bucket), and each 15 required to fight fire near his sale area.

Timber Operators
Browning, J. P., Alarka Creek-Lynn Cove; Bryson, Geo., Lower Buck Creek; Buchanan, Zeb, Grassy Branch, Jackson County; Bryson, Geo., Piney Knob Creek; Carr Lumber Co., Bad Branch, Jackson County; Carnes, Harley, Yonce Creek; Corbin, Thomas, Hickory Gap; Collier, Wm., Holmes Branch; Culbertson, W. G., Broadway Gap; Curtis, Prince, Coweeta Experiment Station; Deitz and Brogden, East Fork of Savannah; Gennett Lbr. Co., Lower Brush Creek; Green, Lawrence, Mill Creek; Hastings, F. E., Stillhouse Branch; Henson, E. H., Bettys Creek; Holland, W. T., Wayah Creek; Holland, Glen, Nickajack Creek; Henson, L. M., Mud Creek; Parrish, W. R., Burningtown Creek; Parker, Brady, Dodgens, White Rock Creek, Jackson County; Pendergrass, C. L., Mulberry, Evans Creek; Picklesimer, T. B., Osage Mountain; Rickman, T. M., Shepherd Creek; Rickman, E. O., Huckleberry Creek; Rogers, Neely, Buck Creek; Taylor-Colquitt Co., scattered over Macon county; Waldroop, Lester, Sugar Cove, Wallace Gap, West, C. M., Cowee Creek; Wilson, C. C., Tellico Creek; Zickgraf Hardwood Co., Loudermilk Creek, Upper Buck Creek, Stephens Creek.

In addition to the above listed sales there are 35 Rangers Sales now in operation. These operators are also required to fight fires. All persons mentioned above, and other forest co-operators are urgently requested to help in detecting, preventing and suppressing forest fires on the Nantahala National Forest (Wayah Ranger District).

Watch for Enemy
Also please remember that our Fire Lookouts are constantly on the watch for enemy aircraft. If they have to spend much time reporting forest fires, they may not detect a Nazi or Jap plane flying over this country.

JOHN WASILIK, JR., District Forest Ranger.

There are 2243 farm families in the county. It had been hoped that a larger percentage of these farm families would have distinguished themselves in furthering the cause of better farm living for Macon County and North Carolina. It will be necessary if Macon county, shoulders its part of the land, for more feed and food to be produced at home.

Correction

The horse and mule clinics scheduled for Macon County will be held Tuesday, February 17th, instead of Thursday, February 17, as erroneously reported in last week's Press.

Chain Letter

Senders Violators Postal Fraud Laws

The postoffice authorities have called the attention of the public to the latest endless chain letter scheme, which solicits defense saving stamps. A recent issue of the Postal Bulletin, issued for officers and employees of the Postal Service by direction of the Postmaster General, states that the mails are being flooded with these letters.

All persons are warned that the sending of such matter through the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes. Notices are served on such persons participating in such schemes requiring them to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid delivery of any mail to such persons named therein.

This newspaper has previously called attention to the illegality of all forms of endless chain letters. The scheme involving defense savings stamps is the latest phase of the chain letter disease. People who indulge in these schemes are sometimes ignorant, as well as those who answer them and thereby become guilty of a punishable offense against the government. However, ignorance is no excuse before the law. When a person receives any kind of a chain letter, the chain should not only be broken, but the letter should be turned over to the postmaster.

Poultrymen Are Advised To Order Equipment

Poultrymen, probably to a greater extent than any other farm group, can conserve war materials by using substitutes for metal equipment, according to G. Tom Scott of State College, chairman of the North Carolina USDA War Board.

Allocations of materials for manufacture of poultry equipment were fixed at a relatively low rate and this makes it especially urgent that poultrymen place orders now so that manufacturers will know what types of equipment to make from the limited materials available, Chairman Scott said.

Immediate placing of orders also will prevent delays which may occur if equipment is ordered late in the season when transportation facilities have become overloaded with war materials.

In general, Scott said, materials for manufacturing new farm machinery have been restricted to an average of about 83 per cent of the materials used for similar purposes in 1940, while use of materials for making repair parts is permitted at an average rate of about 150 per cent of the 1940 level.

Some items of poultry equipment are above the average, including repair parts at 160 per cent, and some types of brooders at from 86 to 115 per cent of the 1940 level. Allocations of materials for most other items are lower than average, as shown by the following list:

Lamp and electrical incubators (1000-egg and smaller), 60 per cent of the 1940 level; brooders: floor (oil, coal, gas, and electric) depending on type, from 86 to 115 per cent, battery (heated, three to five deck) 75 per cent; poultry growing batteries, 75 per cent; laying batteries, 25 per cent; poultry feeders, 70 per cent.

Poultry waterers; glass-jar type, less than one gallon, 90 per cent; one gallon and up (metal), 90 per cent; other equipment, expressed in terms of total weight of all metals and rubber, 87 per cent. Attachments and parts for all items in this group, expressed in terms of total weight of all metals and rubber, 160 per cent.
