'Molasses King' Tells

Sörghum molasses has become a war crop, now that sugar is being rationed. Dan F. Holler, assistant extension agronomist of N. C. State college, says that Zeb Norville of Rutherford county is one of the best sorgum molasses-producers he knows anything about.

The Cane Creek section of Rutherford, in which Mr. Norville lives, has long had a fine reputation for the quality of its molasses. Practically every farmer in the community grows enough cane for mo-

Mr. Norville consented to give other farmers over the State the and buggy basis. been growing and making molasdo much in aiding the United ses ever since I was large enough to be around a cane mill," the Rutherford farmer said.

gallons of molasses and 50 bushels Harry is the second son in the of cane seed. The surplus molasses sold for $1.00 per gallon, and the seed brought $1.75 per bushel. Thus, the 1.7 acres of cane was worth "The cane was planted between pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer was used with this revenue have served the at planting time, and when the cane was about knee high, I applied 600 pounds of nitrate of soda. A special cane plate was used in the planter, which gave a spacing of about 8 inches in the row, and which placed about three seed per hill. By using this plate, it was not necessary to do any thinning. The rows were spaced three feet apart.

"The crop was cultivated three times, the first and second times with a one-horse, three-foot, walking cultivator which was equipped with small shovel plows. The first cultivation was shallow and was made when the stalks were three to four inches tall. The second cultivation was made two weeks after the first. The third and last cultivation was made three to ofur weeks later with a one-horse, full tongue plow equipped with a straight shovel and sweep. An attempt was made to throw dirt to the plants and to cover all weeds and grass in the row.

"The cane was stripped in the row the first week in October. The syrup was cooked rapidly over a hot fire. Dry wood for the cooking is an important factor in making good molasses."

Farms Of The County Lack Home-Grown Foods

The place of the farm in this war is the production of "Food for Victory." Leaders of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, including our own county farm agent, Sam W. Mendenhall, say that farmers of this county generally are deficient in home production of such essential food propork, poultry and eggs. From the last Federal census comes proof that a large number of farms in Macon county are without gardens, cows, hogs and chickens. The 1940 census shows that there are 2,243 farms in the county. The census report also reveals that 160 farms were without gardens, 309 farms did not keep a cow, 1,021 farms had no gohs, and 201 were without a single chicken.

"This is the first war-time task of farm people," Dean I. O. Schaub of State college declared, "to see that every farm has a garden, at least one cow, and some hogs and ohickens. These are all vital to the health and welfare of rural people. Our farm families must be wellfed before they can expect to feed the rest of the Nation, and our Allies in the fight for freedom."

N. C. Motorists Pay How To Grow War Crop Nearly 3 Millions Gas Tax

North Carolina motorists on Wednesday, February 25, may well be proud of the fact that to date they have paid out $291,322,000 in state and federal gasoline taxes, O. Y. Kirkpatrick, Chairman, N. C. Petroleum Industries Committee, Charlotte, said today in calling attention to the fact that the American gasoline tax will be 23 years old on that day.

"Three millions of dollars in gasoline taxes have played a major part in pulling this state out of lasses for his home needs, and a the mud. When this country entered the first World War in 1917 our highways still were on a horse

"Now all this is changed. At the beginning of 1942 there were about six times as many car-owning families as there were in 1917. There are 15 times as many trucks on "Your contribution to our pro-gram of National Defense, of which of Silver Drip molasses cane, and now as there were in 1917, and the Marine Corps is a vital part, from this acreage produced 370 the trucks today are efficient vehicles for transportation.

"The motor vehicle owners who have paid out their millions of dollars in gasoline taxes to provide better roads may proudly take their hats off to the American gasoline tax on February 25," said April 20 and 30. Six hundred Mr. Kirkpatrick. "The roads built people well in peace and in work. Our roads are facilitating production in the all-out effort.

"However, because of tire rationing and other restrictions, the gasoline tax revenue of this state may decline temporarily during the war. Under those circumstances it is desirable that the state review and take steps to conserve all available tax resources."
