War Bond Week

Designated By Governor Broughton For May 4-9

RALEIGH, April 20.—May 4-9 has been designated as War Bond Week by Governor J. Melville Broughton who has issued a proclamation calling upon all citizens of the State to sign voluntary pledges during that period to set aside a portion of their income for the regular purchase of war saving bonds and stamps.

The campaign will be conducted throughout the State under the direction of the Defense Saving Staff of the United States Treasury, of which Charles H. Robertson of Greensboro is State Administrator. Julian Price of Greensboro is State Chairman of the campaign.

Plans for the pledge-signing, which will be on a voluntary basis and for such amounts as the individual may designate, were perfected at a meeting of county chairmen in Greensboro last Tuesday.

Governors Proclamation

Governor Broughton's proclamation follows:

"Whereas the Treasury Department of the United States has planned for a nation-wide campaign to secure from every person having regular income a voluntary pledge assuring the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds and Stamps in an amount to be designated by the pledgor; and "Whereas, the need of our government is great and the success of this campaign depends upon a full understanding thereof and a wholehearted individual response; and

"Whereas, War Bond Week will be conducted in each city and town during the period from May 4 to May 9 under the direction of the local Defense Savings Committee; and

"Whereas the success of War Bond Week is dependent upon enthusiasm, effort and pride, and merits the active cooperation of every citizen;

"Now, therefore, I, J. M. Broughton, Governor of North Carolina, hereby proclaim this War Bond Week an undertaking of great national import and urge the full and prompt cooperation of all citizens in signing a voluntary pledge for the purchase of U. S. Savings Securities."
