In speaking of these meetings, Rev. H. T. Bridgman of the Presbyterian church said:

"The negroes of the summer community have shown their appreciation of the services by the generosity of their offering each Sunday and by their heartfelt words of thanks."

He is not new to this section since his boyhood days were spent in Whiteside Cove, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alley, lived for many years. He served three years as pastor of the Seneca, S. C. Baptist church and was for a time pastor of the Baptist church at Liberty, S. C. He is a nephew of Judge Felix Alley, whose recent book, "Random Thoughts and the Musings of a Mountaineer," has been so widely read.

Rev. and Mrs. Alley and their three children are at home at the Baptist parsonage.

Miss Dorothea Harbison left last week to spend the winter with the Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Dupree at Tamasee Industrial school.

The electric generators on a big U. S. battleship or carrier could fill the electric power requirements of a city the size of Newark, N. J. Such warships have power plants generating an output two-thirds as great as that of TVA's Norris dam.

Certain Politicians

Address Appeal To Adolph Hitler

(A subscriber with "a passion for anonymity" has put the following dissertation in the mouth of certain Congressmen.—The Editor.)

Herr Adolph Hitler, Berlin, Rome, Tokyo, and all points off the Atlantic Coast of the United States,

Dear Fellow Politician: There is no game so brutal in its nature, no trade so depraved in purpose that it doesn't have its rules; rules that all participants ought in good conscience to follow; a code of ethics that all should observe. We are not versed in the arts of war, but we understand that all is fair in this occupation; that there is no limit to its brutality, subject, of course, to the restrictions of International law, which, of course, you know nothing about. But even you Herr Adolph, still observe some of the niceties of War's code. For instance, you do not kill all your prisoners; you keep the best of them for slave labor in your factories. And of all the countless millions of Greek, Czechs, Belgians and other European populations whom you have so ruthlessly tortured, starved and murdered—none can truthfully say that even you, as yet, have burned any of them at the stake, although we must admit that such death might be merciful compared to death by the other forms of torture in use by you and your Gestapo.

Not being warriors ourselves, we can't know much about the niceties of war, but in the field of politics we have something in common with you, and in some respects we are playing the game alike. We each understand that any burden upon the civilian population, any sacrifice of human life in our armed forces, is justified in order that we may remain in office. This applies to you and us alike. But we wish to call to your attention that while you may be observing some of the rules of war, that you are observing none of the rules of politics. Of course, in this field you have an advantage—for our systems are different. You have the armed forces of your country and the Gestapo to keep you in power until they become so nauseated with you that they will spew you out of their mouths, while we are elected for two years at a time, and the people have to stomach us for that long—whether they like it or not. And here is where you have violated all laws of the game:—

You, Herr Adolph, well know that we come up for re-election this Fall—three long months from now—and we quake in our boots and don't make a move until the election is over, while you take advantage of the situation and go right ahead with your dastardly war while our hands are tied and we are helpless. You have trampled upon the entire code of political ethics; you have violated every rule of the game. Why, you are even working your slave labor in munition plants more than 40 hours a week and are not complying with our Wage and Hour law—the most efficient vote-getting piece of legislation ever perpetrated upon the American public—and, unless you cease such nefarious practices, we are putting you on notice here and now that we shall be forced to take the matter up with Madam Perkins.

And not only that—not being content with stealing Central Europe for yourself and helping Cousin Hirohito steal Eastern Asia, the islands of the Pacific and parts of Alaska, you, while our hands are tied are now stealing Russia and North Africa also—sinking a good percentage of our merchant ships every day, drowning hundreds of American seamen, jeopardizing the lives of millions of our armed forces, in addition to causing the American public, for generations to come, to groan under the weight of its tax burden. You are even sapping the remaining strength of the overrun countries of Continental Europe so that they will be a liability to us instead of an asset when the election is over and we, at last, are in a position to give our attention to the war effort. Can it be true that you even intend to knock out Russia before next November so you will also have her oil supplies, her boundless natural resources, and her manpower of 180 million people also at your disposal? Surely not Herr Adolph! Surely you realize that your trampling upon our political code will insure our defeat; that in order to meet this threat that we may simply have to get desperate and quit playing politics and get down to business in order to keep you from putting our constituents in concentration camps where they can't vote for us. Now, Adolph, we are between the Devil and the witch. We are busy trying to get ourselves re-elected and have no time to give our attention to such frivolous things as stopping the blood from flowing from the side of a crucified world. But you keep right on—you are "carrying the ball" while we are still in a political huddle—and it ain't fair!

But we are giving you fair warning. We cannot rely upon the exploits of Bataan, Coral Sea and Midway much longer. The American public is beginning to realize that the credit for these is due to the heroism of American soldiers, sailors and airmen, and not to us—and every time we "point with pride" the public is prone to bring up something about pensions for Congressmen, or the alphabet. A continuation of your present practices may cause our defeat, and the next bunch that goes in may profit from our example and apply themselves to helping the Army and Navy and American public give you the sound drubbing that you deserve, instead of employing their time in seeing how they can make their position secure for the next election, and into how many combinations the alphabet can be twisted. Now, will you let up until this election is over?

With appropriate regards, and with the hope that you will let this warning guide your conduct until the November election is over, we subscribe ourselves—
THOSE CONGRESSMEN
"Whose Feet The Shoe Fits"
P. S.—Of course, for political reasons, we can't sign our names—but you know who we are.

1,000 W.N.C. Men Have Joined Navy Since War Began

Well over 1,000 men from Western North Carolina are serving in the Navy today, having enlisted after the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

These men come from all walks of life. A cross section would include doctors, mechanics, lawyers, bricklayers, farmers, grocery clerks, carpenters, students and boys who are straight out of school. These men are living the Navy life—a life that is full and well-rounded.

Many of these men have received special instruction in trade schools, and gone well-equipped from these schools to active duty with the United States fleet. The Navy maintains over 55 trade schools where these men are trained.

The family button box, seldom seen now, should come into sight again. Look over all old garments and carefully cut the buttons off. Sort white from dark or colored buttons. Buckles and snaps, hooks and eyes and other fastenings should be saved.
