Old Advice Has New Meaning This Year

Christmas shopping and mailing for folks at home as well as for service men, must be done early this year, or empty stockings will be the result on Christmas day. That is the opinion of local merchants and the assurance of Postmaster Tom Porter.

Not only are the stores rapidly emptying of many lines of goods formerly used as Christmas gifts, but the post offices of the country this year are already tremendously handicapped by manpower difficulties.

All over the United States, post offices are cutting down on the number of deliveries customarily made and are eliminating many collections. Some 16,000 postal employees have gone into the armed forces and many thousands more have gone into defense jobs.

To make deliveries of Christmas mail this year more difficult, trains are running into unavoidable delays being held up by war freight and troop movements.

Where post offices customarily hire extra trucks and workers for the Christmas season, both will be difficult to get.

All of which leads up to the old, old advice which takes on new meaning this year:

Do your Christmas shopping and mailing early!

Red Cross Home Nursing Classes Requested

Plans are being made for Red Cross Home Nursing classes over the county to be taught by a nurse from the National Chapter of the Red Cross, says Mrs. Florence Sherrill, home nursing chairman of the Red Cross in Macon county.

The following communities have requested these classes: Holly Springs, Walnut Creek, Otto, Cullasaja, Otter Creek, Patton, West's Mill, Maple Spring, and Olive Hill.

Other communities wishing these classes should make their requests of Mrs. Sherrill whose offices are at the Agricultural building in Franklin.

It is planned that a 24-hour course be taught once a week for two hours. Those completing the course will receive certificates from the National Chapter of the Red Cross.

Salvage Chairman Commends Cooperation

In the scrap metal drive Macon County went over the top as it has in all other endeavors that the people of the county have undertaken. Our quota of 100 pounds per capita at first sounded rather high but when patriotic people such as you find in Macon county, realize that there is a demand that must be met in order to win this war nothing can stop them. I wish to take this opportunity to thank every one that contributed to this endeavor. The people who donated scrap, the school teachers who cooperated in the drive, the school children who gathered up scrap, the truck owners who hauled in scrap, the business people who closed their places of business, the people who helped both on the yard and on the trucks and the other members of the salvage committee who have exerted every effort to make the campaign a success. These members are Florence S. Sherrill, Gilmer A. Jones, Roy Mashburn, Wilton Cobb, Jimmie Hauser, and J. I. Vinson.

Every person in Macon County can be depended on to do his or her duty in a time of a crisis as we find ourselves confronted with now. Cooperative effort will win this war and the people of Macon County are cooperating one hundred percent.

Signed:
S. W. Mendenhall,
County Agent and Salvage Chairman.
