CHRISTMAS TREE PUT UP BY YOUNGER BOYS THIS YEAR

In keeping with former years, Highlands has a Christmas tree at the intersection of Main and Fourth Streets, put up Saturday afternoon by the war workers of Highlands club under the supervision of Mayor W. H. Cobb. This is a much smaller tree than usual, and is representative of the boys who put it up—younger boys of the community who are determined to carry on in the absence of their older brothers in the armed forces.

Since there may not be as many bright Christmas lights on the tree as usual, the boys have placed two Christmas streamers high overhead, branching out from the tree, which support two large Christmas bells, making a very attractive decoration for the center of the village.

MOUNTAIN TRAIL CARRIES PRIZE ESSAYS

The Christmas edition of the Mountain Trail, Highlands school paper, carries a splendid editorial by Herbert Paul, editor-in-chief, as well as the two prize winning essays in the contest recently put on by that paper.

First prize winner in the contest was Nancy Potts. In her opening paragraph, Miss Potts assures the reader that hers is a Christmas message though not the usual "Merry Christmas" greeting, which she said "somehow went out with Sunday rides and two cups of coffee for breakfast." This prize winner based her essay on Rowena Cheney's poem "Nothing that truly lives can ever die."

The second prize-winning essay was written by Maxie Wright and is built around the Arabian proverb "I had no shoes and I murmured till I met a man who had no feet." Both essays are well written and, with the editorial, carry very timely lessons.

LIBRARY CHRISTMAS TREE ON SATURDAY, DEC. 26

The children of the community are again reminded of the Library Christmas tree and party Saturday afternoon in the children's room, which is being given under the auspices of the trustees of the library from 3 to 5 o'clock.

MISS ANGELA ANDERSON HOSTESS OF PARTY

Miss Angela Anderson was hostess at a party Saturday evening celebrating her 15th birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Anderson. After a number of games and contests the young people sang Christmas carols with Barbara Zoellner and the hostess taking turns at the piano. Christmas evergreens decorated the home and refreshments were served from the dining table, which held an attractive centerpiece of mistletoe and holly.

Guests included Lolita Holt, Maxie Wright, Nancy Potts, Thomas Bridgman, Jack Bridgman, Albert Bridgman, Herbert Paul, Edwin Shockley, Bidd Burton, Margaret Wiley, Evelyn Alley, Barbara Zoellner, Roy McDowell, Peggy Potts and Bud Thompson.

MARY ANDERSON HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Mary Deas Anderson celebrated her 11th birthday with a party Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. In the games, prizes were won by David Bridgman, animal cracker contest; Margaret McDowell, living room treasure hunt; and Juanita Alley, the bean race. Birthday cake and ice cream featured the refreshments.

Included in the guest list were Mary Bascom Cook, Sarah, Isabel and Buddy Hall, Marna Cobb, Margaret McDowell, Charles Crumkleton, Eleanor, David and Stewart Bridgman, Elizabeth Newton, Martha Holt, Juanita and Henrietta Alley, and three sisters of the hostess, Angie, Anne and Jane Anderson.

Mothers Of Sons In Armed Forces Honored

Mrs. H. M. Alley was elected president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist church at the annual meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Marrett Saturday afternoon in connection with a party celebrating the 57th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Marrett. Officers elected to serve with Mrs. Alley for the next year are, Mrs. Mack A. Pierson, vice-president; Mrs. Gay Paul, secretary; and Mrs. D. W. Wiley, treasurer. Mrs. Lawrence Hicks was appointed program chairman to succeed Mrs. Marvin Baty. Mrs. Carl Joellner was re-appointed personal service chairman. Mrs. Alley presided at Saturday's meeting in the absence of the retiring president, Mrs. Benson Neely, and the program was in charge of Mrs. Baty.

Mothers of sons in the armed forces who were honor guests at the meeting were Mrs. Florence McKinney, three sons; Mrs. Carl Zoellner, three; Mrs. Callie Beale, three; Mrs. Walter Reese, two; Mrs. Tom Gibson, one; and Mrs. W. S. Davis, three grandsons and two nephews. Each told what branch of service the young men were in and where stationed, many of them being on Foreign soil.

Guests invited for the 4 o'clock tea hour which followed the meeting were Rev. H. M. Alley, Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Higgins, Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Bridgman, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davis; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Russell, Dr. Jessie Z. Moreland and Mrs. H. G. Story. Each of the men made short talks appropriate to the occasion.

Much fun was had over the mock wedding ceremony entered into by Mr. and Mrs. Marrett, who celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on the 17th of December. Rev. Alley officiated to the humorous ceremony and said it was the first of the kind he had ever been called upon to perform. Mrs. Davis was matron of honor and the war mothers acted as bridesmaids.

Twenty-seven guests were present for the delightful occasion and the Misses Barbara Zoellner and Evelyn Alley assisted in serving a delicious salad and sweet course.

Personal Mention

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers By RUTH CURRENT

(N. C. State College)

Days are short and work will not get done unless we plan to make each hour count. Simplify your housekeeping. Time-saving short cuts can be worked out for most homemaking jobs.

Make your time management plan a family venture. It will be more fun. Help the children to understand that their work is worth while. They will want to share in working for victory.

Allow time for the companionship of your family and friends, as well as for work. Plan to share in community wartime activities. Choose those in which you can be of most service.

Victory takes planners, victory planners on the home front as well as on the battle lines.

Home-front planners work out with their families ways of spending, wasting nothing, and guarding the strength, the health, the happiness of their own.

Home front planners work with their communities, stamping out hoarding, sharing what they have, providing for the needy, protecting and building the safety, health, and happiness of their neighbors.

There will be a shortage of doctors, dentists and nurses as a result of demands for medical units to care for our armed forces here and abroad. This means we must do everything we can to insure our families with good health. Rest, sunshine, fresh air exercise, and good food will help to keep the family well. All-out victory cannot be won by people who are all-in. Long or serious illnesses may wreck a family spending plan.

These suggestions might help avoid such a calamity: Set aside a certain amount each week or month for an emergency fund. Consider possibility of joining a hospitalization plan. Enroll in Red Cross Home Nursing and First Aid groups. Enroll in a nutrition group.

Shining through the clouds of war, the Star of Bethlehem still inspires faith in the hearts of men.

Let us be worthy of the "Peace on Earth, Goodwill Among Men" that must finally come to this war-torn world.

Let us prove that we fully deserve the freedom that we, Americans, have enjoyed. Let us go on from dawn to dawn valiantly fighting for the principles that make men free. United we stand and with God's help we shall never fall.
