

Nantahala Creamery

Pasteurizes Product For Many Markets

The Nantahala Creamery is one of the largest industrial plants in Macon county. A large proportion of the output at present is going to the Southern Dairies, Inc., Asheville. The rest, besides supplying local needs, goes to Highlands, Sylva and Brevard.

A. B. Slagle owner, has been in the dairy business for many years and his butter has taken many blue ribbons as first prizes at State Fairs. He has been buying milk and cream from producers in Macon and neighboring counties for 16 years, besides that produced from his own large herds. Now the large quantities of milk and cream collected on his milk routes is going to supply serious shortages in nearby cities and towns.

The dairy barns of the Nantahala Creamery located four miles from Franklin on Highway 64 are of the most modern type. Surrounded by a wide sweep of rich grazing land on Cartoogechaye creek, this dairy farm is one of the show places of the county. Together with another large farm, the pastures embrace 300 acres of the more than 1000 acres of farming and woodland of the two farms.

A herd of 240 head of Guernsey dairy cattle, about 175 of which are registered purebred cattle, find rich grazing on these bottom lands. Some of the herd have been sold for highest prices through the American Guernsey Club of which Mr. Slagle is a member, and with which his purebred stock is registered.

The creamery also operates a pasteurizing plant located in Franklin where the finished products of butter, pasteurized milk, buttermilk and cream are bottled and from which the trucks are loaded for distribution.

FARM FORESTS HEAVY
