Personal Mention

Mrs. Adelaine Daves of Bel- lington, Wash., and R. L. Ram- ey of Hamilton, Wash., arrived last week to visit relatives and on account of the illness of Joe K. Ramsey, who died last Fri- day. Mrs. Daves is a sister and Mr. Ramey a son of the de- ceased.

Dr. J. L. Stokes, II, took a business trip to Durham last Tuesday. He was accompanied as far as Greensboro by Mrs. Sam Rogers, who will spend the rest of the winter with her children, Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Hayes.

H. L. Anderson, who has been very ill at his home on Harrison Hill, is reported improved.

H. H. Hirsch, who has been under treatment of Angel hos- pital, is much better.

Miss Hazel Keener and Wil- liam Hall spent last weekend in At- lanta visiting friends.

Mrs. Paul Bryson is spending this week in Asheville and Way- nesville.

Ras Penland has been con- fined to his home for the week with flu.

Miss Delma Edwards is taking a business course at Cecil's Bu- siness College, Asheville.

Miss Kathryn Anne Huggins of Arlington, Va., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Huggins.

Miss Mildred Cabe of Wash- ington, D. C., is in Angel hos- pital for the removal of her appendix.

Mrs. F. R. Schaeffer is ill with flu at her apartment in the Gilmer Jones home on the Georgia road.

The Rev. A. R. Morgan and Mrs. H. E. Freas left Tuesday to attend the Asheville Convoca- tion of the Episcopal church meeting at All Soul's church, where Mr. Morgan will address the meeting. The highlight of the gathering will be an ad- dress by Bishop Y. Y. Tsu, a leader in modern China, and known as "the Bishop of Burma Road." He is a close friend of Generalissimo and Madam Chi- ang Kai-shek. Arriving by plane from Asia, he will make a number of addresses at meet- ings of the Episcopal church in the United States.

Mrs. Hattie Porter Waldrop was accompanied to Asheville on Tuesday by her brother, T. W. Porter, to undergo a serious eye operation at Mission hospi- tal. She is reported to be get- ting on nicely.

Funeral

Standards CONTINUE TO advance as living conditions improve. In our funeral home, appointments of grace and beauty, designed to relieve life's drabness and gloom, help soften the blow of bereave- ment.

ALTHOUGH OUR SERVICES are of the highest character known to the funeral pro- fession, our efficient management and low- profit policy result in prices that are no higher than elsewhere.
