Charles T. Blaine

IN the passing of Charles T. Blaine, Macon County lost one of its best citizens, and the Town of Franklin its oldest merchant. During many years of service in the business world he made a lasting impression upon those with whom he came in contact, and throughout his career as a clerk, mail carrier, and merchant, his cheery disposition spread sunshine wherever he went. Never a person to seek the limelight, his daily life was one of constant and conscientious service to God and his fellowman.

He was an active member and faithful leader of the Baptist Church. It has been said that the true test of a man's character is whether children are attached to him, and in this test Charles T. Blaine did not fall short. His consideration and affection for little children, both in his Sunday School work and in his daily life, was sufficient proof of his christian spirit. He was a steadfast believer in teaching children the principle of self-reliance, and to this end, was always ready and willing to devote the necessary time towards instilling this principle in the hearts and minds of the children of his acquaintance.

The mortal remains of Charles T. Blaine have been committed to the earth, but his spirit will live on forever.

Capable Supervision

WE nominate as one of our most public minded citizens the Supervisor of the Nantahala National Forest, Art Schilling; under his capable, intelligent supervision the Forest has developed into a tremendous resource for this section of the State; its timber facilities have been utilized to the utmost in a sensible and prudent manner; the present crop has been harvested and the future one protected; the mineral resources have been developed as far as possible under present circumstances and the recreational possibilities admirably exploited.

Apparently Mr. Schilling has handled these matters with more than one view in mind; the people have been made to feel that the Forest belongs to them. The small timber operator has been given equal advantage with the large and no organization has been granted any sort of monopoly because of "Pull" or capital. Furthermore the Forest organization has no spirit of "To hell with you and don't walk on the grass." The personnel is friendly and almost leans over backwards to accommodate.

Mr. Schilling hasn't confined his creative supervision to his job; he is always seeking some means to promote material advancement for Franklin and Macon County. He continually attempts to interest industries to locate here and never misses an opportunity to advertise our Town and County; he is intensely interested in civic matters and earnestly enters into any community activity. He has a fine theory of living and letting live. Truly a booster worthy of any community.

These things we list to his credit and one more, we learn that he is a mighty fine fellow.

FAT NEEDED

"Fats and oils hold a key position among the world's important foodstuffs and industrial raw materials—in peace and in war," proclaims War Food Administration. They are the most concentrated form of energy-bearing foods, and indispensable raw materials for many wartime processes. After cooking fat has no further food use, government asks housewives to salvage every drop so that industry will have adequate fats and oils from which to make medicine, munitions, soaps, paints, varnishes, synthetic rubber, and hundreds of other wartime necessities.

To market,
To market...

When the Southern Railway System goes "to market," it does its buying from a "shopping list" of 65,000 different items...and buys about sixty-one million dollars worth in a year.

Using almost everything...from toothpicks to crossies, from pins to steel rails...there are few articles produced in the South that the Southern doesn't buy.

And there are few cities, or towns, or counties in the South that do not feel the helpful effect of railway purchases. They ring local cash registers, stimulate local trade, and provide jobs for thousands of workers in other industries... year after year.

Thus, through its purchases, through the taxes it pays, through the 50,000 railroad jobs it provides and the vital transportation service it renders, the Southern Railway System really "Serves the South"...and so helps it to grow and prosper.
