DON S. ALIAS

States Reasons He's For Redden

Asheville, May 15.—"My uppermost ambition is to see Western North Carolina develop, prosper and progress, and I feel I can make definite contribution to that end by supporting Monroe Redden for Congress", declares Don S. Alias, Redden district manager.

Mr. Alias, who is executive director of Radio Station WWNC and vice-president of the Asheville Citizen-Times company, and who has a long record of leadership in civic projects, sees Mr. Redden as a seasoned and successful attorney and business man whose ability and energy will make certain our section's interests will be protected in Washington.

"We want the Great Smoky Mountains National park developed, the Blue Ridge Parkway completed, tourist facilities expanded, agricultural and mining possibilities fostered, and more and more industries established", asserts Mr. Alias. "Moreover, we want our industries and visitors treated with such fairness and appreciation that others will be encouraged to come to live and work among us."

HE IS THE MAN FOR THIS JOB

REP. ZEBULON WEAVER

Zebulon Weaver's record is one of a steady, conscientious and able public servant. He does not believe in or employ spectacular methods of campaigning. At this moment Mr. Weaver is at Washington tending his duties in the House of Representatives. His goal, as always, is service to his country and to the people of the Twelfth Congressional District. It would be a most serious misfortune to this District to sacrifice, for the promises of a politically ambitious opponent, all that he represents in seniority, diligence, application to duty and proven merit.

Mr. Weaver has announced his wish to retire from public life at the end of the next Congressional term of office, in 1948. His worth to you in the two coming years must not be discounted or fogged over by glib assurances that this is the time for a change.
