

Fishing

Regulations In Smoky Park Listed

Blair Ross, superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountains National park, has announced open and closed season in the park for 1946. Main streams only are open to fishing; all tributaries are closed. To put it simply, this means that in North Carolina, open waters are Big creek below Gunter fork, Swallow fork, and McGinty creek; Cataloochee creek below Palmer creek; Rough fork below end of truck trail; Caldwell fork below McKee branch; Oconaluftee river below Wild Cherry branch; Bradley fork below Chasteen creek; Straight fork below Ledge creek; Raven fork below Cherokee reservation; Deep Creek below the forks; Left

Open seasons on trout run through August 31, rock bass and small mouthed bass through August 31. Night fishing is prohibited and there is no open season on other species of fish.

Fishing is permitted only with artificial lures, limited to one hook, but two or more artificial flies may be attached to the leader. State or county fishing licenses are required.

New Drug

Developed During War Kills Poison Ivy

Science has happy tidings this summer for American vacationists allergic to that "Dracula" of summer vegetation known as poison ivy. The good news comes in the form of a new war-born chemical called 2, 4-D (Dichlorophenoxyacetic acid), now available to operators of vacation playgrounds and owners of summer homes and camps.

When sprayed on poison ivy plants, this new running mate of the other new chemical wonder, DDT, will render the obnoxious weed totally harmless. The nasty stuff collapses soon after spraying, as the chemical penetrates to the very roots of the plant and actually strangles it to death.

Each year additional thousands who have never contracted ivy poisoning before find themselves no longer immune. It has also been proved that ivy poisoning may be contracted merely by contact with smoke from fires in which the plants are being burned.

Once the ivy poisoning enters the blood stream, the victim usually is faced with six more years of summer misery before it "burns" itself out. Merely being near the plant growth, even without actual contact, often causes a recurrence, according to published case histories.
